INTRODUCTION.

The merits of brevity, though never openly denied, are not always practically acknowledged; and some readers may be found, who suppose that a work of moderate size must be proportionably circumscribed in the amount of information which it conveys; that the weight of authority is on the side of large dimensions; and that obscurity, feebleness, and imperfection are the necessary consequences of curtailing redundancy or avoiding repetition. To the few who labour under such prejudices the Author of these pages has nothing to offer; while to the intelligent reader, no further preface is necessary than a short statement of the purposes with which this work was originally undertaken, the ends which it has been found to answer, and the deficiency in our books of reference which it was constructed to supply.

Accounts of the titled classes had hitherto been confined to those who possessed hereditary distinctions, omitting any reference to nearly one thousand officers in the colonial, diplomatic, military, naval, and civil service of the state. Bishops, Judges, Privy Councillors, and the different classes of Knights, enjoy distinctions which command universal respect, discharge functions of the highest dignity, and are in the daily habit of performing services to the State, on which the authority of England abroad and her security at home are mainly dependent; yet a complete collection of memoirs relating to those distinguished individuals remained unattempted till this publication made its first appearance.

It was considered that a work professing to include "all the titled classes" must, least of all, omit these; for it was presumed that the public would experience more disappointment in not finding the personal history of the living objects of their esteem, than pleasure in perusing dry genealogies which ascend to the Conquest, or long lists of such posterity of deceased peers as enjoy no distinctions, hereditary, personal, or official. In this volume it was therefore intended to include all the titled classes,—but their limits determined its boundary. The completion of this plan by the introduction of the Knights, Bishops, Privy Councillors, Judges, as well as the Widows of deceased Baronets and Knights, occupied much time, and gave rise to considerable expense; but the records of their honours—previously unpublished—had long demanded a place among the hereditary titles of which these distinctions are frequently the precursors: the Author of this work had therefore for some time entertained a design—first realized early in the year 1841—of uniting a Peerage, a Baronetage, and a Knightage.

In the preliminary pages of this volume will be found,—

1st. Twenty-six Illustrations.—Amongst these are the insignia peculiar to Princes, Peers, Bishops, Baronets, Knights of the Garter, the Thistle, St. Patrick, the Bath, the Star of India, St. Michael and St. George, the Guelphs of Hanover, &c.

2nd. Precedence.—An essay in which the grounds for each claim to precedence are examined and explained at length, under the head of every office or dignity. To this are added copious tables of knightly, of judicial and legal, of clerical, of university, of naval, of military, of diplomatic, of East Indian precedence, and of Canadian precedence; as well as an article on precedence amongst ladies.

3rd. Inferior Titles of Peers.—A new article on the inferior titles of living peers has been prepared, by which the disappearance of some hundreds of well-known names is accounted for; and many remarkable facts connected with the local designations, peculiar orthography, and numbers of the Peerage are pointed out.

In the first part of this volume, the following ten classes will be found collected into one general dictionary, in which details are given of their titles, parentage and descent, ages, birthplaces, marriages, education, professions, residences, public services, offices, Church patronage, the occasions on which their titles were conferred, their works in literature, science, and the arts, with numerous historical and professional details.

1st. THE PEERS.—Accounts are contained in the following pages of the heads of all the noble families in the empire, whether belonging to the English, the Scottish, or the Irish peerage. These notices are characterized by frequent reference to the circumstances under which titles originated, to the revival of ancient dignities, or to any peculiarity in the course by which honours have descended, or are intended to descend. The next heir to each dignity is also recorded; and a reference is given to Part II. of the volume for accounts of such immediate relatives of each peer as possess any titular prefix.

2nd. THE PEERESSES.—In the particulars given of the head of every noble family, the married ladies and the dowagers connected with each are mentioned; while, as regards Peeresses in their own right, and dowagers being widows of peers, separate statements will be found in their proper alphabetical positions.

3rd. THE BISHOPS.—Copious notices are given, not merely of the Lords spiritual, but of all Bishops, English, Scottish, Irish, or Colonial, including particulars of the local extent of their jurisdiction, the annual values of their sees, the works they have written, the colleges at which they were educated, their births, marriages, and other family particulars.

4th. THE BARONETS.—Respecting this large division of the titled orders, the usual details will be found, compiled with great care, and presenting in every respect all the requisites of a complete Baronetage of England, Ireland, and Scotland.

5th. THE SCOTTISH JUDGES.—As the Lords of Session have, during the last three centuries, enjoyed a titular distinction, which is sometimes mistaken for a peerage, it has been thought right to include them, though doubtless many readers are aware that their title is merely one of courtesy,—that it ceases with their tenure of office —and does not give the prefix of Lady to their wives.

6th. THE KNIGHTS BACHELOR comprise a large body of eminent lawyers, judges, men of science and of letters, physicians, diplomatists, and artists. In compiling notices of this branch of the titled classes, especial care has been taken to state, in common with all other particulars, the occasions on which their honours were conferred, the offices they have held, and the services which each has performed.

7th. THE KNIGHTS OF THE BATH AND OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.—In these Orders will be found the ministers who represent British interests at foreign courts, or the officers belonging to both branches of the service, whose achievements in various quarters of the world have procured the approbation of the crown and commanded the gratitude of the country.

8th. THE KNIGHTS OF THE STAR OF INDIA.—In this Order will be found officers of the Army and Navy who have distinguished themselves in India, as well as diplomatic and civil servants of the Crown in that part of the British possessions, who have rendered long and valuable services to the Viceroy.

9th. THE PRIVY COUNCIL.—A considerable proportion of this body are either Peers, Bishops, Baronets, or Knights; but even such as are not included within these Orders are still men of great eminence in the state, and fill or have filled the highest offices in the public service. Enjoying the prefix of "RIGHT HONOURABLE," they may be regarded as forming a portion of the titled classes; and, considering the conspicuous position which they occupy, nothing that relates to them can be indifferent to the public. Details respecting all the Privy Council will therefore be found in this work under their individual heads.

10th. WIDOWS OF KNIGHTS, &c.—Until the production of an article under this title in 1851, no work of reference existed which gave any account of some 200 persons entitled to the prefix of "Lady," and being the widows of Knights or of Baronets whose titles are extinct. The name of every widow, whether the title be extinct or not, will now be found in the general dictionary of Part I., and an attempt has been made to give the parentage of each lady, with a statement of her husband's name, his rank, and the date of his death.

Part II. of this volume contains several articles, amongst which are the following:—

1st. THE SONS, DAUGHTERS, &c. OF PEERS, BEARING COURTESY TITLES.—Upwards of four thousand persons enjoy titles by courtesy; viz. the sons and daughters of living or deceased peers, and in some cases, their grandchildren or collateral relatives. In the same manner, as heads of families form one dictionary in the first part of the work, so the junior members of noble houses are alphabetically arranged in the second portion of the volume, with full particulars of their parentage, their ages, their marriages, their offices, and their professions. This series of accounts contains all who by courtesy enjoy the titles of "Lord," or "Lady," or "Honourable;" the public are here, therefore, presented with a comprehensive and accessible view of the younger branches of the nobility, neither parcelled out into families nor distributed into ranks, but collected into the only order which can prove permanently convenient, that of one general alphabetical arrangement.

2nd. MODES OF ADDRESSING LETTERS.—A series of statements, exhibiting the formal mode of addressing letters to every person of title, arranged in alphabetical order.

3rd. THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.—Lists of all the Members of the various orders of Knighthood, arranged alphabetically, exhibiting the dates of their respective elections, and distinguishing those who are included in Part I.

4th. THE PRIVY COUNCIL.—A complete list of the Privy Council of Great Britain and Ireland, marking such of its members as enjoy no other title than that which they derive from their appointment to the Council Board.

Of the labour bestowed upon this history of the titled classes, no estimate can be formed by persons unaccustomed to literary toil; nor probably could the most experienced compilers —otherwise than from actual observation—form an adequate notion of the pains with which its materials have been accumulated and corrected, classified and condensed. To say, as is the case, that it contains the statement of nearly seventy thousand facts, still affords no means of imagining the extent of research and inquiry requisite for such a compilation, or the liability to error necessarily inseparable from so large an accumulation of minute particulars, even though derived from records at the Heralds' College and other public offices, from works of high authority only to be found in public libraries, and from nearly three thousand manuscript communications which have been forwarded by the subjects of these notices themselves. When in so many instances there existed a liability to error, it is hoped that the few inaccuracies which may possibly appear, will not be imputed to haste or negligence; and that the reader will continue to appreciate an account of the titled orders, compendious but not defective—forming a volume of convenient size and moderate price, easy of reference, and embracing, without diffuseness, that knowledge which the public naturally desire to obtain concerning the Aristocracy, and which the higher classes usually possess with respect to each other.

PRECEDENCE.

Precedence is not regulated by mere conventional arrangements; it is no fluctuating practice of fashionable life, no result of voluntary compacts in society, no usurpation of one class over others; but, on the contrary, is "part and parcel of the law of England;" subsisting under the authority of acts of parliament, solemn decisions in courts of justice, or public instruments proceeding from the Crown. The earliest statute on the subject of precedence is the 31st of Henry VIII. cap. 10, which, although passed chiefly for the purpose of fixing the official precedence of certain state functionaries and of the Lords in parliament, has been accepted as an authority for placing these persons on all occasions, whether specially named in the act or not. The next public documents relating to this subject are the decrees of James I. issued in 1612 and 1616: then the 1st of William and Mary, cap. 21; the 10th of Anne, cap. 8; the 5th of Anne, cap. 8; the 39th of George III. cap. 67; with many other acts determining individual precedence, besides royal ordinances, decrees, warrants, letters patent, and statutes of knightly Orders.

At all periods of our history, but especially during the last 150 years, the aristocratic spirit of British society has presented a well-defined and ascertained character. From this source have sprung a variety of arrangements connected with court ceremonial as well as with the intercourse of private society, which are mingled with, but in some respects quite distinct from the duties, privileges, and powers of those who are engaged in the public service. For example, though each rank in the peerage commands, according to a certain graduated scale, the respect of society, while it gratifies the ambition of its possessor and his family, yet no one member of the House of Lords possesses in his political or judicial capacity any greater amount of power than his brethren; the vote of a duke reckons for no more than the vote of a viscount or baron.

It is to be observed, that primogeniture and seniority are amongst the leading principles of our system of precedence. Priority of birth, and dates of patents and commissions, determine the precedence which individuals of the same rank take amongst each other, and thus the station and degree of each are ascertained by means which rarely admit of controversy or doubt.

In England all rank and honours are either hereditary, official, or personal. The order of baronets, the five ranks of the peerage, and the sovereignty of the realm, constitute the hereditary distinctions in British society. The discharge of public duties, civil, military, and ecclesiastical, impart official dignity; while a seat in the Privy Council or in the House of Commons, the honour of knighthood, patents of precedence at the bar, &c. confer distinctions which, being neither hereditary nor official, may fairly be comprehended under the third of the above-named classes.

In seeking to arrive at clear and satisfactory views of a subject like this, we are naturally induced to venture upon some attempts to trace these honorary distinctions to their respective origins, and to examine their remote as well as their recent history; but yet even these aids do not secure all the information that is necessary to satisfy the demands of a liberal curiosity. There are no authentic sources from which any very material information can be derived with respect to the manners and customs of our remote ancestors, as regards rank, place, and precedence. In a primitive condition of society, the supreme ruler, the priesthood, and the people are the natural divisions into which a nation would, as it were, classify itself. Any inquiry into the usages of the Saxons, still less into those of the ancient British, would supply but little assistance towards rendering more interesting or useful the account here proposed to be given of the various orders of society in this country. It is well known that the Norman invaders and their descendants assumed in England all those exclusive privileges by which they made themselves every thing, and the serfs, who cultivated the soil, no better than slaves. Although the legal institutions, the language, and the lineage of the Saxons, in process of time, recovered their influence, and ultimately prevailed, yet it is to our Norman conquerors, and to their usages, we must look for the germ of that which constitutes our ceremonial and titular code—the principle upon which our ranks and dignities have been formed and arranged, as well as the power by which they are conferred. Still it is only the germ of that system that modern English society may be said to have derived from the rude soldiers of fortune who followed in the train of William, Duke of Normandy. With the consent of their leader, they constituted themselves the nobles of the land; and though the titles of duke and earl might be traced to an age antecedent to the extinction of the Saxon dynasties, yet a long period elapsed after the Conquest before any other degrees of nobility than those of baron and of knight were established in England The latter was, as it still continues to be, a personal distinction; the former, a result of territorial possessions. It was the tenure of certain lands which in those days imparted to a man the dignity of a baron. Many knights possessed what were termed "knights' fees," and if they held such lands they were bound to perform "knights' service;" but the existence or continuance of knighthood did not in any respect depend upon territorial possessions.

It is here perhaps not unworthy of observation, that inasmuch as the Crown has not extensively exercised the power of giving precedence to new knights or newly made barons, over men already in the enjoyment of those dignities, yet the monarch gradually called into existence new orders of nobility; and though he did not much alter the positions of individual nobles amongst each other in their respective ranks, yet he assumed the power of placing one entire order above another. Thus the whole peerage at one time consisted chiefly of barons; and now barons form its lowest rank; for each successively created order was placed not after, but before those who may be considered to have constituted the original nobility of the land. In like manner the ancient and general fraternity of knights bachelor have been moved downwards in the scale of precedence, to make way for the knights of the several Orders and for the baronets.

In the subjoined tables of precedence the reader will find that, wherever necessary, an explanatory notice has been given under each head, to account for the arrangement adopted, to show the relation which that particular rank may bear towards others, to describe changes, anomalies, and exceptions, or to supply any additional information which the case may seem to require.

GENERAL TABLE.

1. The Sovereign.—It is hardly necessary to remind the reader, that as the monarch is the highest personage in the realm, no one takes precedence of him. The king or the queen regnant is always, and in all respects, superior to any subject, and his or her position exemplifies more clearly than that of any other person the real meaning of the term Precedence. Common observation is sufficient to inform the reader, when considering the precedence of the sovereign, that on many occasions propinquity to the place of greatest honour is regulated by a reversed scale to that of numerical precedence, and though apparently a contradiction in terms it is true, that persons of greatest dignity do not strictly precede those of less consideration and importance. Thus in many state-processions it is well known that the position occupied by royalty is not by any means the first in numerical order; but wherever the sovereign is placed, from that point radiate the gradations of dignity and rank, and by propinquity to that centre is regulated the whole complicated machinery of etiquette and precedence. Therefore in any scale the sovereign is not so much to be regarded as having a specific personal rank, but as constituting and establishing by his own position the source from which all dignity shall spring. Many officers of state on ceremonial occasions actually go before Her Majesty, without thereby negativing the royal title to precedence, or acquiring for themselves any increase of dignity or rank. Whatever position therefore the sovereign occupies, that is ipso facto the first place with reference to all precedence, though it may be far from first in a numerical point of view.

2. Prince of Wales.—The Prince of Wales has been at all times regarded as the first subject in the realm—the nearest to the throne—the most dignified of the peers of parliament, and, though not exercising any political power beyond his vote as a legislator, yet regarded by all men as the most eminent personage in the state next after the sovereign; the Prince of Wales is the heir apparent; the heir presumptive may be brother, uncle, nephew, niece, or even a more distant relative of the sovereign; but the prospect which an heir presumptive may possess of eventually succeeding to the throne gives him no place in the scale of precedency: the rank he holds is merely derived from consanguinity. But the station of Prince of Wales is clearly and indisputably that of the first and highest of Her Majesty's subjects.

3. Sons of the Sovereign.—The second son of the reigning monarch takes rank next after the eldest, and all the younger sons take precedence amongst each other according to priority of birth. They usually receive peerages as soon as they become of age; and in the House of Lords they would of course rank above all other peers, and take precedence amongst each other according to the dates of their respective patents; for example, if the fifth son received his dukedom previous to the fourth, then the younger would in all proceedings of the Upper House take precedence of the elder: but this sort of anomaly is not likely to occur; for the practice is, to grant the peerages in the order of primogeniture, so that the precedence of those princes in the House of Lords should coincide with their stations in all other assemblies.

4. Grandsons of the Sovereign.—Established usage gives the grandsons of the sovereign this position. The rule appears to be, that every one who could in any event succeed to the throne, takes precedence of those subjects who, during his lifetime, are incapable of such succession. The eldest son of the Prince of Wales would take precedence, not only of any other grandson of the sovereign, but also of the sovereign's younger sons (who would be his uncles). The junior issue of a Prince of Wales, however, do not follow their elder brother, but, on the contrary, follow the youngest son of their grandfather the sovereign, as was settled in the case of Edward Duke of York, second son of Frederick Prince of Wales, and grandson of George II. (Lords' Journals, Apr. 24, 1760.)

5. Brothers of the Sovereign.—In the royal family the first class are the sons of the monarch, the second his grandsons, &c.; then would follow his brothers, his nephews, his uncles, &c. Thus the next brother to the king might be at one time the first subject in the realm; but if the king should marry and have seven sons, the brother then would take the eighth place: he might also live to follow fifteen or sixteen of his grand-nephews; but one of these might succeed to the throne, marry, have sons, and so remove his grand-uncle still further from the highest point: it frequently happens, therefore, that as a royal duke grows older he sinks in the scale of precedence.

6. Nephews of the Sovereign.—These proceed in the following order:—1st, such of the monarch's nephews as are the sons of his next brother; 2ndly, the sons of his second brother; then those of his third brother, and so on according to the seniority of their respective fathers; the sons of each father, of course, taking precedence amongst each other according to priority of birth. The sons of the eldest sister of the sovereign follow those of his youngest brother, taking rank amongst each other according to the usual rule of priority of birth; the sons of each sister enjoying precedence according to the seniority of their respective mothers.

7. Uncles of the Sovereign.—A royal duke may be in one reign the son of the king; in the next reign he may become brother to the sovereign; in the next, uncle to the monarch; and in the following reign, grand-uncle. In the first of these cases he belongs to the highest rank, in the next he falls into the second grade, and finally into the third. Every member of the royal family capable of succeeding to the throne retains an acknowledged superiority over other subjects, but the rank that he holds amongst his own relatives is altered every time a new reign commences.

8. Archbishop of Canterbury.—After many contests between the Archbishops of Canterbury and of York, it was decided by King Edward III. in 1352, that the former should always enjoy precedence over the latter; and this decision has ever since remained in force. Both were always entitled to go before dukes.

9. Lord Chancellor of Great Britain.—The act of Henry VIII. respecting precedence, enacts that the Lord High Chancellor shall, if a baron or above that degree, take precedence next after the Archbishop of Canterbury. The Lord Chancellor of Ireland is not always raised to the peerage, but in modern times that honour has been invariably conferred on the Lord Chancellor of Great Britain. No provision is made by act of parliament for the precedence in England of any of the great officers of state either of Ireland or Scotland; but at the coronation of William IV. the Lord Chancellor of Ireland (Lord Plunket) walked immediately next to the Lord Chancellor of Great Britain.

10. Archbishop of York.—Until the 31st of Henry VIII. this prelate ranked next to the Archbishop of Canterbury, but the act passed in that year regarding precedence placed the Lord Chancellor between the two archbishops.

11. Archbishop of Armagh.—This prelate, under the fourth article of the Act of Union, takes rank next to the Archbishop of York. Before the disestablishment of the Irish Church this prelate was entitled to this position, and by section 13 of the Irish Church Act it was enacted that every Archbishop, &c., then living should, during his life, enjoy the same title and precedence.

12. Archbishop of Dublin.—This prelate has always taken precedence next after the Archbishop of Armagh, and the Act of Union places him immediately before the Lord High Treasurer; see preceding article.

13. Lord High Treasurer.—This is the position which the law assigns to the Lord High Treasurer, whenever there happens to be such an officer. The modern practice is to appoint certain commissioners for the performance of the duties of this office, who are usually called "Lords of the Treasury," but who have no special rank in right of their offices. At present, therefore, there is no one to enjoy this position in the scale of precedence.

14. Lord President of the Privy Council.—In modern times the President of the Council is usually a member of the House of Peers. He enjoys the place here assigned to him, provided he be of the degree of a baron or above it; but as none of lower degree have ever been appointed to the office, this has always been his place.

15. Lord Privy Seal.—The rule which applies to No. 14 is equally applicable to the present case. This is the position of the Lord Privy Seal, provided he be of the degree of a baron or higher.

16. Lord Great Chamberlain.—The person who fills the office of Great Chamberlain does not occupy this position in the scale of precedence unless he happens to be a duke. If a marquis, he takes precedence of all other marquises; if an earl, viscount, or baron, of all others of his own degree. But this precedence is strictly official. By a private Act of Parliament, 1 Geo. I. cap. 3, the place to which this officer was entitled, under the 31st of Henry VIII. cap. 10, is declared thenceforth to be only held while he is in the actual execution of his office. From 1838 to 1870 the office was filled jointly by the Marquis of Cholmondeley and Lord Willoughby De Eresby, and they therefore had different positions in consequence of differing in the rank of their peerages, while neither of them took the position indicated by this article, though if either had at any time received a dukedom, this would be his place.

17. Lord High Constable. — At present there is no such officer as Lord High Constable, but whenever the Crown appoints one, this is his place, supposing him to be a duke; if of any lower rank, his place would be at the head of all of his own degree. Vide No. 29, No. 40, No. 53, and No. 70.

18. Earl Marshal.—The present Earl Marshal happens to be the premier duke of England, but any duke holding the office would take precedence of all other dukes, and, if he belonged to any lower rank in the peerage, would precede all of his own degree. Vide No. 30, and No. 41.

19. Lord High Admiral.—There is at present no Lord High Admiral: the duties of the office are performed by commissioners; but whenever the Crown appoints a Lord High Admiral, he takes precedence of all dukes, as well as of the two great officers next mentioned in this table.

20. Lord Steward of the Household.—As to this office, the rank which it imparts to its holder is not uniformly that of placing him above all dukes, but merely that of placing him above all who belong to the same rank in the peerage which he enjoys. Vide No. 31, No. 42, No. 54, and No. 71.

21. Lord Chamberlain of the Household.—If this great officer be a duke, he takes the precedence here assigned to him; and, if of lower rank, he precedes all others of the same degree. Vide No. 32, No. 43, No. 55, and No. 72.

22. Dukes of England.—All dukes of England whose titles were created before the year 1707, take rank immediately after No. 21, each according to the antiquity of his patent of creation; thus the Duke of Norfolk is the first, and the Duke of Rutland the last in this class. The former, however, as Earl Marshal, enjoys a higher position.

23. Dukes of Scotland.—By the 23rd article in the treaty of union between England and Scotland, which was confirmed by the 5th of Anne, cap. 8, all Dukes of Scotland were granted precedence next after English dukes; that is to say, that the English dukedoms were to be considered superior to the Scottish dukedoms; therefore, the Duke of Hamilton, whose title was conferred in 1643, sixty years earlier than the Duke of Rutland's, nevertheless follows that peer. All other Dukes of Scotland, however, follow each other according to the respective antiquity of their patents.

Since the period of the union (1707), no Scottish dukedoms have been created; therefore every duke created between 1707 and the present time, is of lower station than any of the six Scottish dukes.

24. Dukes of Great Britain.—This denomination includes those which were created between the periods of the Scottish and Irish unions; namely, from 1707 till 1801. Of these the Duke of Portland was the earliest creation, and is therefore the highest of this class, while the Duke of Northumberland is the lowest. The Duke of Portland follows the last Scottish duke (Roxburghe), and thence the order proceeds according to the date of the patents, till we reach the Duke of Northumberland, whose title was conferred in 1766.

25. Dukes of Ireland.—The only Irish dukedom in existence at the time of the union was that of Leinster, which was created antecedently to the union. By the act uniting the two countries, it was declared that the peers of Ireland should take precedence next after those of a like degree in Great Britain. In the year 1801, the junior British duke was his Grace of Northumberland: the Dukes of Leinster therefore take precedence next to the Dukes of Northumberland. During the present century, several dukes of Great Britain have been created, all of whom of course follow the Duke of Leinster; but the only Irish duke who has since that been created, namely, the Duke of Abercorn, will not take precedence immediately after the Duke of Leinster: on the contrary, he will follow the junior duke of Great Britain, namely, the Duke of Cleveland, or, if occasion require it, the Duchess of Inverness; for it is only the Irish peerages actually existing at the time of the union, which enjoy the kind of precedence possessed by the Duke of Leinster.

26. Dukes of the United Kingdom.—This class includes the several dukes created since 1801, of whom the Duke of Wellington was the first; and, according to the general rule, these take precedence in conformity with the dates of their respective patents.

27. Eldest Sons of Dukes of the Blood Royal.—When these do not happen to be brothers, uncles, grandsons, or nephews of the reigning sovereign, their places are not regulated by any clause of the act of Henry VIII.; and for their precedence we must fall back upon earlier authority. The position indicated by this number (27) was that assigned to them in the year 1399, in an ancient table of precedence now preserved in the College of Arms, to which much weight is attached as an evidence of long-continued usage.

28. Lord Great Chamberlain, when of the rank of a marquis; vide No. 16 antea.

29. Lord High Constable, when of the rank of a marquis; vide No. 17 antea.

30. Earl Marshal, when of the rank of a marquis; vide No. 18 antea.

31. Lord Steward of the Household, when of the rank of a marquis; vide No. 20 antea.

32. Lord Chamberlain of the Household, when of the rank of a marquis; vide No. 21 antea.

33. Marquises of England created before the Scottish union.—Of this class there is only one now in existence, v the Marquisate of Winchester.

34. Marquises of Scotland.—Of these the Marquis of Huntly is the senior, and the Marquis of Lothian the junior. In conformity with the 23rd article of the treaty of union, all Scottish marquises whose patents are dated antecedently to that event (1707) take precedence of all others of like degree, excepting those English marquises whose patents are of earlier date.

35. Marquises of Great Britain.—This class of peers enjoy titles which are dated between the years 1707 and 1801; and the oldest marquisate, viz. that of Lansdowne, follows the last of the Scottish marquises.

36. Marquises of Ireland.—The Act of Union (passed in 1800) between Great Britain and Ireland declares, that all peers of Ireland shall thenceforward be peers of Great Britain, and take precedence next after those of a like de-

. The Marquis of Bute is the junior of those British marquises whose patents were granted before the Irish union, he therefore precedes the senior Irish marquis; there then follow seven Irish marquises, of whom Lord Ely is the last.

. Marquises of the United Kingdom.—The several peers of this degree whose titles were created subsequent to that of the Marquis of Ely, which after the Irish union, constitute the marquises of the United Kingdom; and they occupy this position in the general scale, while inter se they rank according to the dates of their respective patents, whether their peerages belong to Great Britain or to Ireland; the Act of Union declares that all peers of Ireland, whose titles shall be created after the statute came into force, shall take rank and precedence as if they were peers of the United Kingdom, and had seats in the hereditary branch of the legislature.

. Dukes' Eldest Sons.—This class of dukes rank above earls, and take precedence amongst each other according to the dates of their fathers' patents. The place thus assigned is not granted in conformity with the provisions of any act of parliament, but in compliance with established usage, which can be distinctly traced to the year 1399. All the complex relations which subsist between dukes of England, of Scotland, of Great Britain, of Ireland, and of the United Kingdom, are equally in force as regards their issue; and in order to ascertain the exact position of an individual member of No. 38, it is only necessary to fix the position of his father among dukes; and then it will be seen that the eldest son of any given duke will follow all eldest sons of such other dukes as his father himself follows. Thus the paternal rank is the regulating influence among the different members of this class, and has already been detailed, while as a body they occupy the position which the number at the head of this article denotes. The scale of precedents which places a duke's eldest son after all marquises is in strict analogy with the limitations affecting the assumption of courtesy titles; for the former usually enjoys by courtesy the title of marquis, which the latter possesses in his own right, and even when there exists in the duke's family no marquisate for the son to assume, nevertheless (although perhaps only a titular baron) he is a courtesy marquis as far as precedence is concerned, and uses the coronet belonging to that rank.

39. Lord Great Chamberlain, when of the rank of an earl; vide No. 16.

40. Lord High Constable, when of the rank of an earl; vide No. 17.

41. Earl Marshal, when of the rank of an earl; vide No. 18.

42. Lord Steward of the Household, when of the rank of an earl; vide No. 20.

43. Lord Chamberlain of the Household, when of the rank of an earl; vide No. 21.

44. Earls of England.—This class includes all earls whose patents are dated antecedently to 1707, the period of the union with Scotland. Of these the Earl of Shrewsbury is the first, and Earl Poulett the last.

45. Earls of Scotland.—By the treaty of union between England and Scotland, all Scottish peers became peers of Great Britain, with rank next after English peers of the like degree, but taking precedence amongst each other according to the dates of their patents. The Earl of Crawford is the first of this class, and the Earl of Hopetoun the last. The patent of the Earl Poulett bears date in 1706, and that of the Earl of Crawford in 1398: the effect, however, of the union has been to give precedence to the former over the latter; but all earls created since 1707 follow the whole body of the Scottish earls, and of course take rank amongst each other in the usual manner, according to the dates of their respective patents.

46. Earls of Great Britain are those created between 1707, the year of the Scottish union, and 1801, when that with Ireland took place. In the scale of precedence, they follow the whole of the Scottish earls, and precede all the Irish earls. Of this class the Earl of Dartmouth is the first, and the Earl of Malmesbury the last.

47. Earls of Ireland are of two classes; one created before the union (1801), and the other since that event. By the act which united the two countries it was declared that peers of Ireland should be peers of Great Britain, and should take rank in England next after those of a like degree, enjoying precedence amongst each other according to the usual rule—date of patent. The first of this class is the Earl of Cork; he possesses the oldest Irish earldom, and, therefore, in the scale of precedence comes next to the Earl of Malmesbury, who is the junior of the British earls. The most recently created of the Irish earls at the time of the union was the Earl of Kenmare; he is, therefore, the last, and the Earl of Cork is the first of the body of Irish earls whom the Act of Union added to the earls of Great Britain. The earls of Ireland created since the union come into the next class.

48. Earls of the United Kingdom are those created since England, Scotland, and Ireland formed one United Kingdom; the Earl Rosslyn being the first, and the Earl of Feversham the last. Within that period, however, six Irish earldoms have been created, the possessors of which do not rank amongst the body of older Irish earls, existing previous to the union, but are, according to dates of patents, intermingled amongst the United Kingdom earls, all of whom, as already mentioned, were created within the present century. The difference between an earl in the peerage of Ireland and one in the peerage of the United Kingdom is, that the latter has a seat in the upper house, and the other has not, at least in right of his earldom, though he may possess that advantage if he be likewise a British viscount or baron, or a representative peer. As regards precedence, all peers, whether of Ireland or of the United Kingdom, if created since the union, take rank amongst each other according to the dates of their respective patents.

49. Younger Sons of Dukes of the Blood Royal.—When these do not happen to fall within the provisions of the act of Henry VIII., which refers to the brothers, uncles, grandsons, and nephews of the reigning sovereign, they must rest for their precedence upon usage, which can be distinctly traced, by a record of great authority (now preserved in the College of Arms), as far back as the year 1485, and which gives them the place here assigned under the number 49.

50. Eldest Sons of Marquises.—The precedence of the eldest son of a marquis does not rest upon patent, or order in council, or statute, but on that which is of equal force—immemorial usage, evidenced by the orders of the Constable of England in the year 1467, made "according to auncient statutes." As a body, their position is that which their number (50) indicates, while inter se the precedence of their respective fathers regulates the rank of the sons, as has already been explained with reference to dukes' eldest sons at No. 38.

51. Younger Sons of Dukes.—This place is assigned to the younger sons of dukes upon the authority of a decree pronounced by the commissioners for executing the office of Earl Marshal, in the reign of Elizabeth, 16th Jan., 1594. In accordance with the rules already referred to, the members of this class, however, take rank inter se in accordance with the relative precedence of their respective fathers.

52. Lord Great Chamberlain, when of the rank of a viscount; vide No. 16.

53. Lord High Constable, when of the rank of a viscount; vide No. 17.

54. Lord Steward of the Household, when of the rank of a viscount; vide No. 20.

55. Lord Chamberlain of the Household, when of the rank of a viscount; vide No. 21.

56. Viscounts of England.—The same rule applies to these as to the higher ranks of the peerage. The class now under consideration are those whose titles were granted antecedently to the union with Scotland, and they extinct save one, the viscounty of reford. The peer who holds that nity is of course the premier viscount he realm.

7. Viscounts of Scotland.—As the cases of earls, marquises, and es, the Scottish viscounts take pre- ence immediately after the English ted before the union; Viscount kland being the first, and Viscount thallan the last. Of course, amongst other they follow the usual rule, date of patent.

8. Viscounts of Great Britain. hese were created between 1707, period of the Scottish union, and , that of the union with Ireland; are therefore preceded, first, by the English viscount, and 2ndly, by the tish viscounts. This rule is founded, all others of a similar kind, upon provisions of the treaty of union. first of this class is Viscount Bo- broke, the last is Viscount Hood.

9. Viscounts of Ireland.—These peers of Ireland created before the n, and by the act which effected great change they became peers of t Britain, with "precedence next other peers of a like degree." The of the number is Viscount Gor- ston; the last, Viscount Monck. ongst each other, they follow the ral rule of taking rank according to tates of patents.

10. Viscounts of the United gdom constitute that portion of the age which has been created since . In the scale of precedence, seve- rish viscounts (created since the n) are intermingled with them, ac- ing to dates of patent, on principles dy explained.

11. Eldest Sons of Earls.—It is nder any distinct written authority the eldest sons of earls hold this e, but by immemorial usage, which be distinctly traced at least to the 1399. Collectively, their position dicated by the number 61, while in- ually the rank of their respective nts regulates the precedence of the dren inter se.

12. Younger Sons of Marquises hold this rank by immemorial usage, in like manner as the sons of dukes and earls possess theirs, and in the same way their fathers' precedence among marquises regulates theirs amongst the issue of marquises.

63. The Bishop of London is here placed by the statute of Henry VIII. There is some ground for supposing that antecedently to the passing of that act he occupied a different position, but there cannot now be any doubt as to the place which ought to be given to this prelate.

64. Bishop of Durham.—The same statute (that of Henry VIII.) which determines the precedence of the Bishop of London fixes that also of the Bishop of Durham.

65. The Bishop of Winchester.—By the constitution of the Order of the Garter, it was declared that the prelate of that Order should always take precedence of every other bishop. From the foundation of the Order to the present time, with the exception of a few months in the year 1553, this office has always been held by the bishops of Winchester; therefore the holders of this see have uniformly enjoyed precedence over all suffragan bishops, excepting those of London and Durham, who in the 31st of Henry VIII. were placed above them by the act passed in that year regulating precedence.

66. English Bishops.—So many generations have passed away since a bishop was a Secretary of State, that it may be scarcely worth while to call attention to the fact, that the 31st of Henry VIII. provides, if a prelate should be a principal Secretary of State, that he shall take precedence of all his brethren, unless some of them hold one of the ten offices already mentioned, which give a precedence over dukes. Bishops precede all temporal barons; and the general rule is that they shall take rank amongst each other according to priority of consecration, and not in right of privileges attaching to each see. The exceptions are, as already stated, that the Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester, enjoy rank superior to any other member of the episcopal body.

67. Bishop of Meath.—This prelate and the Bishop of Kildare (since united to Dublin) claimed, in 1812, precedence next to the Bishop of Winchester, but the House of Lords decided against them. The Bishop of Meath, no matter how recent his consecration, takes precedence of all suffragan bishops of Ireland, and enjoys one of the honorary distinctions of an archbishop, viz. the title of Most reverend: vide No. 10.

68. Irish Suffragan Bishops.—The Act of Union between Great Britain and Ireland provides, as in the case of the lords temporal, that the lords spiritual shall take precedence next after those of a like degree in England. The Irish suffragan bishops therefore take rank next to the English, but amongst each other their precedence is regulated according to seniority of consecration. To this, however, there is one exception: see No. 67, also No. 10.

69. Lord Great Chamberlain, if of the rank of a baron; vide No. 16.

70. Lord High Constable, if of the rank of a baron; vide No. 17.

71. Lord Steward of the Household, if of the rank of a baron; vide No. 20.

72. Lord Chamberlain of the Household, if of the rank of a baron; vide No. 21.

73. Secretary of State.—When this important public officer is below the degree of a baron, his rank would be at No. 85, under the provisions of Henry VIII.'s Act. If, however, the office be filled by a baron, he takes precedence of all peers of that degree: but the rule does not hold beyond this rank, for the office does not exalt the precedence of a viscount, earl, marquis, or duke (Coke, 4 Inst. 362).

74. Barons of England.—These are peers sitting by writ or patent of earlier date than the Scottish union (1707); of whom, Lord De-Ros is the first, and Lord Clifford the last.

75. Barons of Scotland. — The treaty of union between England and Scotland made provision that the barons of that country should take precedence next after those of a like degree in England, having rank amongst each other according to the antiquity of their titles. The first amongst this class is Lord Forbes, and the last Lord Polwarth.

76. Barons of Great Britain.—These are peers whose patents of creation bear date between the Scottish and Irish unions, namely, during the period from 1707 till 1801. They take rank after the Scottish, and before the Irish barons. The barony of Middleton is the oldest creation of this class, and the barony of Ribblesdale the most recent.

77. Barons of Ireland.—According to the Act of Union between Great Britain and Ireland, this class of peers takes precedence next after those of a like degree in England, at the time of the union, and amongst each other, according to antiquity of creation; Lord Kingsale being the first, and Lord Clarina being the last.

78. Barons of the United Kingdom.—All peers created since 1801, when England, Scotland, and Ireland became one united kingdom. Amongst these, in order of precedence, several Irish barons are intermingled according to dates of patents, on principles already explained in Nos. 25 and 47.

79. Speaker of the House of Commons.—This position is enjoyed in right of ancient usage, confirmed incidentally by the words employed for fixing the place of No. 80 in the 1st of William and Mary, cap. 21.

80. Commissioners of the Great Seal.—When the office of Lord High Chancellor is executed by commissioners, the persons to whom this great trust is confided become entitled, under the 1st of William and Mary, cap. 21, to precedence "next after the peers of this realm and the Speaker of the House of Commons." It need hardly be observed that this rank only belongs to such as have no higher claim to precedence in right of other offices, or in right of hereditary honours.

81. Treasurer of the Household, is here placed under the authority of a royal warrant, of Henry VIII., in the year 1540.

82. Comptroller of the Household, is here placed under the authority of a royal warrant, temp. Henry VIII.

83. Master of the Horse.—In modern times the Master of the Horse to the King or Queen regnant, is sometimes a duke or marquis, and rarely under the degree of an earl, he therefore never has occasion to avail himself of the precedence which belongs to his office, since that which is inseparable from his hereditary rank gives him a higher place.

84. Vice-Chamberlain of the Household. — This officer is here placed on the authority of a warrant, temp. Henry VIII.

85. Secretary of State.—When this important public officer is below the degree of a baron, the place here assigned to him is that given by a warrant of Henry VIII., in the year 1540, but when held by a duke, marquis, or viscount, it gives him no elevation of rank, as was decided in the case of Robert Cecil, Earl of Salisbury (Coke, Inst. 4—362). When a secretary of state is, however, a baron, his place will be as described in No. 73, to which the reader is referred.

86. Eldest Sons of Viscounts are here placed in conformity with ancient usage, evidenced by the orders of the Constable of England in the year 1467, made "according to auncient statutes;" the relative precedence of their respective fathers settles their rank inter se.

87. Younger Sons of Earls, on the same ground as No. 86, and under the same regulations as regards precedence inter se.

88. Eldest Sons of Barons are placed upon the same authority as the above, namely, ancient usage.

89. Knights of the Garter.—It very rarely happens that the members of this Order depend altogether for their rank upon the distinction which their knighthood confers, for the knights companions of the Garter generally belong to the highest classes of the peerage. One of the most recent instances of this distinction having been conferred on a British subject, not being a peer, was the case of the late Prince Consort. Between the period of his investiture with the Garter and the settlement of his rank by royal ordinance, this would have been his position. Respecting the precedence of other Orders of knighthood, there has occasionally been some uncertainty, but the rank enjoyed by knights of the Garter is so clearly established by the statutes of the order, that no doubts have arisen on the subject. The statute is dated April 23, 5th Charles I., 1629.

90. Privy Councillors are here placed under the authority of letters patent, dated 28 May, 10 James I. 1612. Amongst themselves this class, like all others, take rank according to seniority of appointment, when no other principle of precedence exists in the individual instances.

91. Chancellor of the Order of the Garter.—On the 23rd of April, 1629, it was ordained by Charles I. that this officer should hold the rank here assigned him, provided he was a layman; but from 1475 to 1485, and from 1669 to the present time, the office has been always held by a bishop, who enjoyed a higher rank in right of his see. In the intermediate period, however, viz. from 1629 to 1669, this statute regulating precedence had a practical utility, and if at any future time the office should be appropriated to a layman, it would again come into force.

92. The Chancellor of the Exchequer holds this position under the authority of letters patent, dated 28 May, 10 James I., 1612: but if he be a peer or a privy councillor, of course he ranks in those classes.

93. The Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, on the same ground as No. 92; but if a peer or privy councillor, of course according to his place in those classes.

94. The Lord Chief Justice of the Queen's Bench, on the same ground as No. 92; but if a peer or privy councillor, of course according to his place in those classes.

95. Master of the Rolls, on the same ground as No. 92, and if a peer, with a similar exception in his favour as in the case of the Lord Chief Justice.

96. The Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas holds this position under the authority of letters patent, dated 28 May, 10 James I., 1612.

97. The Lord Chief Baron.—The chief judge in the Court of Exchequer enjoys this rank under the same letters patent, as No. 96. It sometimes happens that he is raised to the peerage, in which case, he of course comes under the general rule often referred to in this article, namely, that of taking rank according to his peerage; or if he should, as more frequently occurs, be a member of the Privy Council, he then belongs to No. 90.

98. Lord Justices of the Court of Appeal in Chancery.—When this court was created, in 1851, the judges were granted precedence after the Lord Chief Baron, under 14 & 15 Vict. cap. 83, sec. 3.

99. The Vice-Chancellors.—The precedence of this class of judicial officers was settled by the 5th of Victoria, cap. 5, sect. 25, in these words, "And be it enacted, that the vice-chancellors to be appointed in pursuance of this act, shall during the continuance in office of the present vice-chancellor, (namely, the vice-chancellor of England,) respectively have rank and precedence next to the lord chief baron." The Vice-Chancellor of England originally held a higher place (viz. between the Master of the Rolls and the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas), under the 4th section of the 53rd of George III. cap. 24. But on the death of Sir Lancelot Shadwell in 1850, this higher position was lost; for the 5th of Victoria, cap. 5, declared that any successor of Sir Lancelot Shadwell should rank with the other vice-chancellors, and amongst them, according to seniority of appointment. Vice-Chancellor Rolfe (afterwards Lord Cranworth) decided, on the 14th of Nov. 1850, that no actual successor to the office of "Vice-Chancellor of England" had been appointed, and that the title had ceased.

100. Puisne Judges of the Queen's Bench conform to the general rule of taking precedence amongst each other according to seniority of appointment. The place here assigned them collectively is founded on a decree of James I. dated 28 May, 1612. When puisne judges are removed from one court to another, their precedence dates from their first elevation to the bench, and not from their appointment to the courts of Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, or Exchequer.

101. Puisne Justices of the Common Pleas, on the same ground as No. 100, and taking rank amongst each other according to seniority of appointment.

102. Puisne Barons of the Exchequer, on the same ground as No. 100, and taking rank amongst each other according to seniority of appointment.

103. Commissioners of the Court of Bankruptcy enjoy this position under letters patent, dated 5th December 2 William IV. (1 Deac. and Chitty, p. 2,) confirmed by statute 5 and 6 Victoria, cap. 122, sect. 59 and 62.

104. Knights Banneret, created under the royal standard displayed in open war, the Sovereign or the Prince of Wales being present. They would take rank amongst each other according to seniority of creation.

105. Younger Sons of Viscounts are here placed under the authority of letters patent, dated 28 May, 10 James I., and rank according to the precedence of their respective fathers.

106. Younger Sons of Barons have this place assigned them in compliance with immemorial usage confirmed by the decree of James I., dated 28 May, 1612.

107. Baronets.—On a controversy of precedence between the younger sons of Viscounts and Barons and the Baronets, King James I., in 1612, issued a decree, fixing the precedence of the former before the Baronets. This decree however, makes exception in favour of knights banneret of the highest order, knights of the Garter, privy councillors, the chancellor of the Exchequer, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, the lord chief justice, the master of the Rolls, the vice-chancellor of England, the chief justice of the Common Pleas, the chief baron, and the puisne judges of the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer. Such exceptions, in the absence of higher authority, may be regarded as confirming the positions assigned to them in this article. Baronets conform to the general rule of taking precedence amongst each other according to the dates of their patents respectively. But no provision is made in the Act of Union, either with Ireland or Scotland, for the precedence of the baronets of those countries in England. Analogy with the orders made respecting the peerage, however, would make the succession to be—1st, Baronets of England whose patents are dated before 1707; 2nd, Baronets of Scotland; 3rd, Baronets of Great Britain whose patents are dated before 1801; 4th, Baronets of Ireland; 5th, Baronets of the United Kingdom.

108. Knights Banneret, provided they be not made in the manner described at No. 104. This position was allotted to such as were created by the commanders of armies in the king's name on the open field of battle.

109. Knights of the Thistle.—The Order of the Thistle is scarcely ever conferred on any but Scottish nobles of very high rank, and of course they take precedence according to their peerages. The statutes of the Order are silent respecting precedence, and there does not appear to be any acts of Parliament, royal ordinances, or letters patent, on the subject. In the absence of these authorities, the natural course is to place the orders according to priority of institution or revival.

110. Knights of St. Patrick.—This Order has never been, and probably never will be, conferred upon a commoner. Its right, therefore, to the place here assigned it in the scale of precedence is not likely to be soon decided. The warrant under which the Order was instituted, declares, that in Ireland the knights of St. Patrick shall take precedence immediately after the eldest sons of barons. It has been sometimes supposed that the warrant gave them this rank in England, which would amount to granting them precedence over the knights of the Garter. This document does not abrogate any statute of the Order of the Garter; and nothing is more evident than that the sovereign never intended to place the Irish Order above the more ancient and illustrious fraternities of England and Scotland. It is a position clearly established, that baronets shall come next after the younger sons barons, and that no knight in respect of his knighthood (except those of the Order of the Garter together with certain bannerets), shall be entitled to precede a baronet. As the general rule then is, that knights come after baronets, the several Orders of knighthood have been placed, as already stated, according to priority of institution or revival.

111. Knights Grand Cross of the Bath are declared by the 19th statute of the Order, made in pursuance of letters patent dated 14th April, 1847, to have precedence "next to and immediately after Baronets;" a place clearly inconsistent with awarding the positions here given to Nos. 108, 109, and 110.

112. Knights Grand Commander of the Star of India are here placed on the authority of the statutes of the Order (page 5, dated 19th April, 1866), which places each rank after the corresponding rank of the Order of the Bath, and before those of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

113. Knights Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George are here placed under the authority of the statutes establishing the order in which each rank was granted precedence next after the corresponding ranks of the Order of the Bath, which regulation held good until the Order of the Star of India was instituted.

114. Knights Commander of the Bath are here placed on the authority of the 19th statute of the Order, made in pursuance of letters patent dated 14th April, 1847.

115. Knights Commander of the Star of India are here placed by the statutes of the Order.

116. Knights Commander of St. Michael and St. George are here placed under the authority of the statute referred to at No. 113.

117. Knights Bachelor.—By various patents and ordinances, as well as by acts of parliament, several classes in the state have been assigned precedence over Knights Bachelor, and though they are the most ancient order of knights, we find them at length moved downwards by successive changes to this rank in the scale of precedence.

118. Companions of the Bath.—Under the 19th statute of the Order, issued in pursuance of letters patent dated 14th April, 1847, these are granted precedence before the Companions and Cavalieri of St. Michael and St. George, and before all esquires.

119. Companions of the Star of India are here placed by the statutes of the Order.

120. Companions and Cavalieri of St. Michael and St. George are here placed under the authority of the statutes of the Order referred to at No. 113.

121. Gentlemen of the Privy Chamber have always preceded serjeants. They even ranked before the Chief Baron in a procession from the Tower in 1604. But unbroken precedents, at every coronation since the Restoration, combine to fix beyond doubt their right immediately to precede serjeants, as indicated by the place assigned in this number (121).

122. Serjeants at Law.—A claim has been made by the Serjeants to rank before Knights Bachelor, but no satisfactory decision in favour of such a position has been made. They have frequently contended with the Masters in Chancery for precedence, and established their claim to rank above those functionaries at the funeral of James I.; and at the opening of Parliament, 17th March, 3 Charles I., 1628.

123. Masters in Chancery, and Masters in Lunacy.—The former hold this place by usage. The latter rank jointly with them under the 8th and 9th Vict. cap. 100.

124. Eldest Sons of the Younger Sons of Peers are here placed under the authority of an ordinance of the Earl Marshal's Court, dated 18th of March, 1615. By some authorities this position is considered to extend to a second or third generation of eldest sons, or even in a perpetual succession.

125. Eldest Sons of Baronets are here placed on the same ground as No. 124, viz., the ordinance of the Earl Marshal's Court.

126. Eldest Sons of Knights of the Garter are here placed on the ground of ancient usage, which is confirmed by implication in the ordinance of the Earl Marshal's Court already referred to. In modern times, they enjoy however a superior place, inasmuch as their fathers are always peers; and the hereditary nobility, therefore, yields them a higher position than that springing from the personal honour of knighthood.

127. Eldest Sons of Knights Banneret, on the same ground as No. 126; the usage can be distinctly traced as far back as the year 1399.

128. Eldest Sons of the Knights of the Thistle, on the same ground as No. 109.

129. Eldest Sons of Knights Grand Cross of the Bath, on the same ground as No. 127 taken in connection with the new statutes of the Order; and, inter se, they rank according to the seniority of their respective fathers in the Order of the Bath.

130. Eldest Sons of Knights Grand Commander of the Star of India.

131. Eldest Sons of Knights Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George occupy this position in correspondence with that of their fathers after grand crosses of the Bath.

132. Eldest Sons of Knights Commander of the Bath, on the same ground as No. 129.

133. Eldest Sons of Knights Commander of the Star of India.

134. Eldest Sons of Knights Commander of St. Michael and St. George are here placed, on the ground that the general practice with respect to precedence gives to the descendants of titled persons a station amongst each other, analogous to that enjoyed by their fathers.

135. Eldest Sons of Knights Bachelor are here placed under the authority of letters patent temp. James I.

136. Younger Sons of the Younger Sons of Peers hold this place by usage.

137. Younger Sons of Baronets are here placed on the same ground as No. 135.

138. Esquires by Office, on the same ground as No. 124. This class, of course, includes all officers of the army and navy who are styled "esquires" in their commissions.

139. Younger Sons of Knights of the Garter, on the same ground as No. 126.

140. Younger Sons of Knights Banneret, on the same ground as No. 126.

141. Younger Sons of Knights Grand Cross of the Bath are placed on the same ground as their elder brethren hold their places.

142. Younger Sons of Knights Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, on the same ground as the eldest sons of these knights hold their precedence.

143. Younger Sons of Knights Commander of the Bath, on the same ground as No. 126.

144. Younger Sons of Knights Commander of St. Michael and St. George, on the same ground as their elder brothers.

145. Younger Sons of Knights Bachelor, on the same ground as No. 135

146. Doctors in Divinity, on the ground of ancient usage.

147. Doctors of Laws, on the same ground as No. 146.

148. Doctors of Medicine, on the same ground as No. 146.

149. Bachelors in Divinity.—The degree of a bachelor in any of the faculties of law, physic, or divinity, is rarely obtained otherwise than as preparatory to the superior degree of doctor; and in divinity it generally happens that those who take a bachelor's degree are also in priest's orders; they have, therefore, the prefix of Reverend: but if that were not the case, they in common with all bachelors of faculties would be entitled to the affix of Esquire; this place, therefore, amongst esquires is assigned them on the ground of analogy and ancient usage.

150. Bachelors of Laws, on the ground of ancient usage.

151. Bachelors of Medicine, on the same ground as No. 150.

152. Clergymen. Few things are more undefined than the precedence due to clergymen in general society. Of course it is well known that the precedence of the "faculties" is as follows: 1st, Divinity; 2nd, Law; 3rd, Medicine; 4th, Music. But there is another consideration that imparts to this profession a temporal dignity, which is, that one member of it takes rank next to the royal family, that four members of the clerical profession take precedence of all dukes, and that bishops are lords of parliament superior to barons. So many circumstances peculiar to individuals modify all general rules of precedence, that it is scarcely possible, in the absence of distinct authority from the Queen, as "the fountain of honour," to fix the position of all clergymen otherwise than by analogy. Thus the Queen's regulations for the government of the army, 1844 give army chaplains, attached to brigades, rank as majors; and Her Majesty's warrant for precedence in the East Indies (see page 62), gives a similar rank to chaplains there, while chaplains attached to regiments rank as captains. It is not to be supposed that clergymen in general society are to take much lower ground, though of course, as the possession of an army commission gives this definite rank, its absence leaves other clergymen to rest only upon analogy when placed in competition for precedence with civilians.

153. Queen's Counsel are placed above all other barristers in right of their patents.

154. Barristers are esquires by ancient usage; but according to the rule of precedence in the profession, they are merely regarded as holding a position in the common law, somewhat analogous to that of the bachelor in the civil law: the sergeant in the one being regarded as of similar rank to the doctor in the other.

155. Subaltern Officers in the Army. — In the table of naval and military precedence, the reader will find the relative rank of each officer set forth; but in a table of general precedence this is the proper place of all military and naval officers who are not styled "esquire" in their commissions: it is, however, to be observed, that such of them as are peers, baronets, knights, lords, honourables, doctors, bachelors in any of the faculties, esquires, members of any order of knighthood, or possessing any rank whatever, do not lose their stations by entering upon the naval or military service of the state.

156. Professional Gentlemen, as solicitors, attorneys, proctors, engineers, architects, medical practitioners, artists, literary men, merchants, master manufacturers, scientific professors, and others not engaged in manual labour, farming of land, or retail trade, are considered to possess some station in society, although the law takes no cognizance of their ranks inter se.

157. Yeomen.

158. Tradesmen being citizens.

159. Tradesmen being burgesses.

160. Artificers.

161. Labourers.

KNIGHTLY PRECEDENCE.

The following tables have reference solely to the precedence enjoyed by the different members of each Order, when assembled in their knightly capacity at chapters, &c., for on such occasions many of the highest dignities fail to give their possessors precedence over a brother knight of an older creation, though in the common intercourse of society the rule be otherwise.

THE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

1. The Sovereign.
2. The Prince of Wales.
3. Members of the Royal Family.

8. The Genealogist.
9. The Secretary.

KNIGHTS BACHELOR.

Knights Bachelor, whether created by the Sovereign (personally or by patent), or by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, rank amongst each other according to seniority of creation.

JUDICIAL AND LEGAL PRECEDENCE.

In the profession of the law, personal or hereditary distinctions are not recognized as titles to precedence. One barrister does not lead, or enjoy pre-audience over another in right of being a knight, or a baronet, or the son of a peer. The following table presents the only ranks acknowledged by the courts of justice as conferring precedence, with the exception of special patents, which the Crown may grant to any member of the profession.

1. The Lord Chancellor of Great Britain.
2. The Chancellor of the Exchequer.
3. The Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.
4. The Lord Chief Justice.
5. The Master of the Rolls.
6. The Chief Justice of the Common Pleas.
7. The Chief Baron of the Exchequer.
8. Lord Justices of the Court of Appeal in Chancery.
9. The Vice-Chancellors.
10. The Puisne Justices of the Queen's Bench. (Vide No. 100, in the general table.)
11. The Puisne Justices of the Common Pleas.
12. The Puisne Barons of the Exchequer.
13. The Commissioners of the Court of Bankruptcy.
14. The Official Principal of the Arches Court.
15. The Judge of the Admiralty Court.
16. The Master of the Faculties.
17. The Judge Advocate-General.
18. The Queen's Attorney-General.
19. The Lord Advocate of Scotland.
20. The Queen's Solicitor-General.
21. The Queen's Premier Sergeant.
22. The Queen's Ancient Sergeant.
23. The Queen's Sergeants.
24. Queen's Counsel.
25. Sergeants at Law.
26. The Recorder of London.
27. The Common Sergeant of London.
28. The Attorney-General of the Duchy of Lancaster.
29. Masters in Chancery and in Lunacy.

30. Doctors of the Civil Law.
31. Barristers having Patents of precedence.
32. Barristers according to date of call.
33. The Clerks of the Crown in the Courts of Chancery and Queen's Bench.
34. The Prothonotaries of the Court of Common Pleas.
35. The Queen's Remembrancer in the Court of Exchequer.
36. Proctors.
37. Solicitors.
38. Attorneys.
39. Notaries.

CLERICAL PRECEDENCE.

1. Archbishop of Canterbury.
2. Archbishop of York.
3. Archbishop of Armagh.
4. Archbishop of Dublin.
5. Bishop of London.
6. Bishop of Durham.
7. Bishop of Winchester.
8. English Bishops, according to their dates of Consecration.
9. Bishop of Meath.
10. Irish Suffragan Bishops, in a similar order of succession.
11. The Bishop of Sodor and Man.
12. Scottish Bishops, according to date of Consecration.
13. Colonial Bishops, according to date of Consecration.
14. Deans, according to date.
15. Archdeacons, according to date.
16. Rectors being of the degree of D.D.
17. Rectors not of that degree.
18. Vicars of the degree of D.D.
19. Vicars not of that degree.
20. Curates.

Before the disestablishment of the Church in Ireland the Irish prelates were entitled to the precedence accorded to them in this table, and by the Irish Church Act, section 13, it was enacted that every Archbishop, &c., then living should, during his life, enjoy the same title and precedence.

UNIVERSITY PRECEDENCE.

The degrees granted by Universities are as follows:—

1st. Doctor of any of the Faculties.
2nd. Bachelor of any of the Faculties.
3rd. Master of Arts.
4th. Bachelor of Arts.

The several Faculties in which degrees are granted take rank as follows:—

1st. Divinity.
2nd. Law.
3rd. Medicine.
4th. Music.

Persons of the same academical rank, and if of the same University, take precedence amongst each other according to the dates of their degrees. Those of the same rank who have graduated at different places, take rank according to the dates of foundation of the Universities to which they belong.

The following are the Universities of the United Kingdom, with the dates of their foundations.

Oxford	886
Cambridge	1110
St. Andrew's	1413
Glasgow	1450
Aberdeen	1494
Edinburgh	1582
Dublin	1593
London	1836
Durham	1837
Queen's University in Ireland	1850

By letters patent in March, 1858, the Queen declared that the degrees granted by the University of Sydney, New South Wales, should be entitled to "rank, precedence, and consideration" in the United Kingdom, and all colonies and possessions of the Crown, as fully as if they were granted by any University in the United Kingdom. And by letters patent in March, 1859, similar privileges were granted to the University of Melbourne in Victoria.

NAVAL PRECEDENCE.

1. Lord High Admiral.
2. Admirals of the Fleet.
3. Admirals.
4. Vice-Admiral of the United Kingdom.
5. Vice-Admirals.
6. Rear-Admiral of the United Kingdom.
7. Rear-Admirals.

8. Commodores of the 1st and 2nd classes
9. Captains.
10. Staff Captains (late Masters of the Fleet).
11. Commanders.
12. Staff Commanders.
13. Lieutenants.
14. Navigating Lieutenants.
15. Sub-Lieutenants.
16. Navigating Sub-Lieutenants.
17. Gunners of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd classes.
18. Boatswains of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd classes.
19. Carpenters of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd classes.
20. Midshipmen.
21. Navigating Midshipmen above 17 years of age and 2 years at sea in the Royal Navy or merchant service.
22. Naval Cadets.
23. Navigating Midshipmen under 17 years of age and 2 years at sea.

The civil branch of the navy has precedence amongst the above officers, as follows, according to an Order in Council, August, 1868:—

1. Chaplains before Rear-Admirals.
2. Inspectors-General of Hospitals and Fleets after 3 years' service with Rear-Admirals.
3. The same under 3 years' service with Commodores of the 1st and 2nd class.
4. Secretaries to Admiral of the Fleet, Paymasters-in-chief, Chief Inspectors of Machinery, Deputy Inspectors-General of Hospitals and Fleets, after 5 years' service, and Inspectors of Machinery afloat, after 8 years' service with Captains over 3 years' service.
5. Secretaries to a Commander-in-chief, all other Deputy Inspectors-General of Hospitals and Fleets, and all other Inspectors of Machinery afloat with Captains of less than 3 years' service.
6. All other Secretaries to a Commander-in-chief, Staff Surgeons, Paymasters, Chief Engineers, and Naval Instructors with Commanders.
7. Secretaries to a Junior Flag Officer, Secretaries to a Commodore of the 1st class, or Captain of the Fleet, Surgeons, Paymasters, between 8 and 15 years' service, Chief Engineers, and Naval Instructors of the same time of service, also Secretaries to a Commodore of the 2nd class, with Lieutenants above 8 years' standing.
8. All other Paymasters, all other Chief Engineers, Naval Instructors, Assistant Surgeons of 6 years' service, with Lieutenants under 8 years' service.
9. All other Assistant Surgeons, Assistant Paymasters, and Engineers with Sub-Lieutenants.
10. Assistant Engineers' Clerks, and Assistant Clerks with Naval Cadets.

MILITARY PRECEDENCE.

1. Field-Marshals.
2. Generals.
3. Lieutenant-Generals.
4. Major-Generals.
   Among these rank
   Inspectors-General of Hospitals, if with an army in the field, or after 3 years' full pay service, and Commissaries-General.
5. Brigadier-Generals, ranking inter se, according to the dates of their commissions as Colonels, and not according to their appointments as Brigadier-Generals. Amongst these, rank, according to seniority.
   The Deputy Paymaster-General, and Inspectors-General of Hospitals.
6. Colonels; amongst whom rank
   The Deputy Judge-Advocate, if he be at the head of his department.
   Deputy-Inspectors General of Hospitals, after 5 years' full pay service.
7. Lieutenant-Colonels; amongst whom rank
   Deputy Commissaries-General of 5 years' standing, and Deputy Inspectors-General of Hospitals.

Surgeons-Major.

8. Majors; amongst whom rank
Deputy Commissaries-General under 3 years' standing,
Assistant Commissaries-General,
Inspectors of Army Accounts,
Staff or Regimental Surgeons,
Chaplains attached to Brigades,
Deputy Judge-Advocates, if not at the head of their department,
Storekeepers of the Ordnance, and
Barrack-masters of the 1st and 2nd classes at home and abroad.

9. Captains; amongst whom rank
Deputy Assistant Commissaries-General,
Assistant Dep. Paymaster-General,
Regimental Paymasters,
Principal Examiner of Military Accounts,
Staff or Regimental Assistant Surgeons, after 6 years' full pay service,
Veterinary Surgeons after 20 years' service,
Chaplains attached to Regiments,
Deputy Storekeepers of the Ordnance, and Barrack-masters of the 3rd and 4th classes.

10. Town or Fort Majors, if officers under the rank of Captain, rank as the junior Captains in the Garrison.

11. Apothecaries of 15 years' service, rank immediately after the junior Captain.

12. Lieutenants; amongst whom rank
Acting Deputy Assistant-Commissaries General,
Examiners of Military Accounts,
Assistant-Surgeons,
Apothecaries of less than 15 years' service,
Deputy Medical Purveyors,
Veterinary Surgeons after 10 years' service.

13. Second Lieutenants.

14. Cornets; amongst whom rank
Veterinary Surgeons during the first 10 years of their service.

15. Ensigns; amongst whom rank
Commissariat Clerks holding Treasury appointments,
Clerks in the Paymaster-General's Department, appointed by him or by the Treasury,
Clerks in the Department of Accounts, if holding Treasury appointments,
Medical Clerks on the establishment, and Ordnance Clerks on the establishment.

16. Superintending Schoolmasters (who were made commissioned officers in Sept. 1862).

In the year 1870, on the establishment of the control department in the army, the officers of that department were, by an order from the War Office, dated Aug. 12, 1870, granted the following positions:—

Commissaries and Paymasters to rank with Majors.
Deputy Commissaries and Deputy Paymasters to rank with Captains.
Assistant Commissaries and Assistant Paymasters to rank with Lieutenants.

Such is a general view of military precedence; but persons of equal degree in different branches of the service take rank as follows:—.

1. Officers of the Regular and Marine Forces.
2. Officers of Fencible and Militia Regiments.
3. Officers of Yeomanry and Volunteer corps.

Furthermore, persons of equal standing, but in different regiments, rank in the following order:—

1. First Life Guards.
2. Second Life Guards.
3. Royal Horse Guards.
4. The Horse Artillery.
5. The Dragoon Guards in numerical order.
6. The Dragoons in numerical order.
7. The Royal Artillery.
8. The Royal Engineers and the Royal Sappers and Miners.
9. The Grenadier Guards.

10. The Coldstream Guards.
11. The Scots Fusilier Guards.
12. The Royal Veteran Battalions.
13. The Infantry in numerical order, from the 1st to the 49th inclusive.
14. The Royal Marines Light Infantry.
15. The Infantry in numerical order, from the 50th to the 93d inclusive.
16. The Rifle Brigade.
17. The Infantry in numerical order, from the 94th, onwards.
18. Militia Regiments in the numerical order settled by the Horse Guards 9th August, 1855.

Until June, 1857, it was generally conceded that the Life Guards had the first place in military precedence; but at that date it was decided by the military authorities that the Horse Artillery, as the mounted representatives of the Ordnance Corps, should take precedence of them. This arrangement, however, gave place in Nov., 1868, to another, by which the Household Cavalry was given precedence of all other corps in the British army.

It is likewise worthy of observation, that officers of precisely equal degree, with commissions bearing the same day's date, &c., do not rank according as they are placed in the London Gazette (which is the rule respecting titular honours bearing the same day's date), but take precedence according to the seniority of their last previous commission.

In Ireland, officers of British militia yield precedence to officers of Irish militia of equal degree, and vice versâ.

Military officers in the service of the East India Company used to enjoy the same precedence as those in the service of the Crown, only so long as they remained eastward of the Cape of Good Hope, and west of the Cape they had no military rank whatever; but by an order of the 1st of May, 1855, it was settled no such distinction should be drawn, and "in all parts of Her Majesty's dominions and elsewhere" they were declared to be entitled to rank and precedence with officers of the regular army, according to the dates of their commissions. The subsequent extinction of the East India Company, and conversion of the forces into "Her Majesty's Indian Army," abolished all distinctions.

The large increase of the Militia, which took place immediately previous to the Russian war, together with the fact of three of the new regiments having apparently the same numbers as three old regiments, led to a general order from the Horse Guards, dated Aug. 9, 1855, settling anew the exact precedence of the whole of the Militia forces as follows:—

MILITIA ARTILLERY.

1. Antrim.
2. Armagh.
3. Berwick.
4. Cork.
5. Cork City.
6. Cornwall and Devon Miners.

COMPARATIVE RANK IN THE NAVY AND ARMY.

Different ranks in the army and navy happen to be designated by the same name, though there is in truth a wide distance between them. Thus a naval captain is of much higher station than a military captain, and so on of others. The subjoined is the authorized scale of relative rank, as prescribed by an order in council Aug. 1868, but nothing contained in these regulations gives any claim to an officer of the Navy to assume the command of Her Majesty's Land Forces on shore, nor to any officer of the Army to assume the command of any of Her Majesty's Squadrons or Ships.

The Admiral of the Fleet ranks with a Field-Marshal in the army.

Admirals with Generals in the army.

Vice-Admirals with Lieutenant-Generals in the army.

Rear-Admirals with Major-Generals in the army.

Inspectors-General of Hospitals and Fleets after 3 years' service on full pay, with Major-Generals in the army.

Captains of the Fleet, Commodores of the 1st class, and Commodores of the 2nd class, with Brigadier-Generals in the army.

Captains of 3 years' standing, Secretaries to Admirals of the Fleet, Paymasters-in-Chief, Deputy-Inspectors of Hospitals and Fleets of 5 years' standing, and Inspectors of Machinery afloat of 8 years' standing, with Colonels in the army.

All other Captains, Staff-Captains, and all other Deputy-Inspectors of Hospitals and Fleets, all other Inspectors of Machinery afloat, Secretaries to Commanders-in-chief of 5 years' standing, Chief Engineers and Paymasters of 15 years' standing, Commanders, Staff-Commanders, and Staff-Surgeons, with Lieutenant-Colonels in the army.

Lieutenants and Navigating Lieutenants of 8 years' standing, Surgeons, Secretaries to Junior Flag Officers, Paymasters, and Chief Engineers, of 8 years' standing, with Majors in the army.

All other Lieutenants, Navigating Lieutenants, Paymasters, Secretaries to Commodores, 2nd class Naval Instructors, and Assistant-Surgeons, of 6 years' standing, with Captains in the army.

Sub-Lieutenants, Navigating Sub-Lieutenants, other Assistant-Surgeons, Assistant-Paymasters and Engineers, with Lieutenants in the army.

Assistant Engineers, Navigating Midshipmen above 17 years of age, of 2 years' service, and Paymasters' Clerks, with Sub-Lieutenants in the army.

DIPLOMATIC PRECEDENCE.

Precedence amongst diplomatic agents is regulated by the 17th Act annexed to the general treaty of Congress signed at Vienna 9th June, 1815, and the Protocol No. 45, signed at the Conferences of Aix-la-Chapelle, 21st Nov. 1818. Under these regulations the following is the order:—

1. Ambassadors, Legates, or Nuncios.
2. Envoys, Ministers, or other persons accredited to Sovereigns.
3. Ministers Resident.
4. Chargés d'Affaires accredited to Ministers for foreign affairs.

In each of these four classes rank i taken according to the date of the offi cial notification of the agent's arrival, not his appointment. No superiority is possessed by diplomatic agents on extraordinary missions, nor in consequence of any relations of consanguinity, family alliance, or political connexion, which may happen to subsist between their respective courts.

The following is a statement of the comparative rank of British Consular Officers in relation to the naval and military services of their own country, as prescribed by the Government regulations issued in 1848. These do not, however, confer privileges on the consuls in their relations with the naval or military officers of the foreign country in which they happen to reside; they apply only to the British service.

Agents-and-Consuls-General rank with (but after) Rear-Admirals; Commodores wearing broad pendants; or Major-Generals.

Consuls-General rank with (but after) Captains in charge of a division, or station, or squadron, or in command of more than one rated ship; or Brigadier-Generals.

Consuls rank with (but after) Captains, R.N.; or Colonels and Lieut.-Colonels. They rank before Commanders, R.N., or Majors in the army.

Vice-Consuls rank with (but after) Lieutenants, R.N., being Masters-Commanding; or Captains in the army. They rank before all other Lieutenants, R.N.

Consular-Agents rank with (but before) Mates, R.N., or Lieutenants in the army.

Among their colleagues at the port of their residence, consular officers take rank in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Congress of Vienna for diplomatic agents, viz. seniority, according to official title and to priority of arrival.

PRECEDENCE IN IRELAND.

The rules of precedence, observed at "Her Majesty's Castle of Dublin" differ slightly from those which prevail in England. There are several official persons, moreover, with an established precedence in Ireland, who do not correspond exactly to any English functionary, and who have here no recognized position. But in the majority of instances, the general rules already laid down, apply equally to both countries. The differences, however, will be seen from the following reprint of the scale published on the 3rd of June, 1843, by command of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. The words within brackets are insertions to make the table intelligible to English readers.

1. His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant [of Ireland].
2. The Lord Mayor [of the City of Dublin, the Castle being within the city boundaries].
3. The Primate [of Ireland].
4. The Lord Chancellor [of Ireland], if a Peer; if not, the Archbishop of Dublin has precedence of him.
5. The Archbishop of Dublin.
6. The Hereditary Lord Steward of Ireland, the Earl of Shrewsbury.
7. Dukes of England.
8. Dukes of Scotland.
9. Dukes of Great Britain.
10. Dukes of Ireland.
11. Dukes of the United Kingdom and of Ireland, created since the Union, according to their patents.
12. Marquises of England.
13. Marquises of Scotland.
14. Marquises of Great Britain.
15. Marquises of Ireland.
16. Marquises of the United Kingdom and of Ireland, created since the Union, according to the dates of their patents.
17. Eldest sons of Dukes, all according to their Fathers' precedence.
18. Earls of England.
19. Earls of Scotland.
20. Earls of Great Britain.
21. Earls of Ireland.
22. Earls of the United Kingdom, and Irish Earls created since the Union, according to the dates of their patents.
23. Younger sons of Dukes of the Blood Royal.

24. Eldest sons of Marquises, all according to their Fathers' precedence.
25. Younger sons of Dukes.
26. Viscounts of England.
27. Viscounts of Scotland.
28. Viscounts of Great Britain.
29. Viscounts of Ireland.
30. Viscounts of the United Kingdom and of Ireland, created since the Union, according to the dates of their patents.
31. Eldest sons of Earls.
32. Younger sons of Marquises.
33. Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester, and all other English Bishops, according to their seniority of consecration.
34. Bishops of Meath and Kildare. [The latter has since been united to the see of Dublin.]
35. All other Irish Bishops according to their seniority of consecration.
36. Secretary of State, or Chief Secretary to Lord Lieutenant [of Ireland] if a Baron.
37. Barons of England.
38. Barons of Scotland.
39. Barons of Great Britain.
40. Barons of Ireland created before the Union.
41. Barons of the United Kingdom and of Ireland, created since the Union, all according to the dates of their patents.
42. Speaker of the House of Commons.
43. Commissioners of the Great Seal.
44. Secretary of State, or Chief Secretary to Lord Lieutenant [of Ireland], if under the degree of a Baron.
45. Eldest sons of Viscounts.
46. Younger sons of Earls.
47. Eldest sons of Barons.
48. Knights of the Garter. [This is probably a misprint for Knights of St. Patrick, to whom the warrant instituting the order gives precedence in Ireland immediately after the eldest sons of Barons; vide page 49, No. 110, in the general table of precedence.]
49. Privy Councillors.
50. Lord Chief Justice of the Queen's Bench [in Ireland].
51. Master of the Rolls [in Ireland].
52. Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas [in Ireland].
53. Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer [in Ireland].
54. Judges of the Queen's Bench, according to seniority.
55. Judges of the Common Pleas, according to seniority.
56. Barons of the Exchequer, according to seniority. [With reference to these three functionaries last mentioned, vide page 48, No. 100, in the general table of precedence.]
57. Younger sons of Viscounts.
58. Younger sons of Barons.
59. Baronets of England.
60. Baronets of Scotland.
61. Baronets of Great Britain.
62. Baronets of Ireland.
63. Baronets of the United Kingdom.
64. Knights Grand Crosses of the Bath.
65. Knights Grand Crosses of St. Michael and St. George.
66. Knights Commanders of the Bath.
67. Knights Commanders of St. Michael and St. George.
68. Knights Bachelors.
69. Companions of the Bath.
70. Companions of St. Michael and St. George.
71. Eldest sons of Baronets.
72. Eldest sons of Knights Bachelors.
73. Younger sons of Baronets.
74. The Judge of the Prerogative [Court, in Ireland].
75. The Judge of the Admiralty [Court, in Ireland].
76. The Attorney-General [for Ireland].
77. The Solicitor-General [for Ireland].
78. The Under Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant [of Ireland].
79. Masters in Chancery.
80. Chief Remembrancer [of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland].

81. Serjeants at Law.
82. The Second Remembrancer [of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland].
83. The Commissioners of the Court of Bankruptcy.
84. The Commissioners of the Court of Insolvency.
85. The Provost [of Trinity College, Dublin].
86. The Adjutant-General [of the Forces, in Ireland].
87. The Deputy Adjutant-General.
88. The Deputy-Quarter-Master-General [of the Forces, in Ireland].
89. The Officer commanding the Artillery.
90. The Inspector-General of Constabulary.
91. The Officer commanding the Royal Engineers.
92. The Commandant of the [Dublin] Garrison.
93. The Inspecting Field Officer.
94. Doctors of Divinity.
95. Doctors of Medicine.
96. Doctors of Laws. [In England the succession is Divinity, Laws, Medicine, Music.]
97. The Commissioners of Police.
98. The Commandant of the Hibernian School.
99. The Director-General of the Medical Department [Ireland].
100. The Inspector-General of the Coast Guard [in Ireland].
101. The Inspector of Revenue Police.
102. Commissioners of the Board of Works.
103. The Inspector-General of Prisons.
104. The Secretary to the Post Office [in Dublin].
105. The Chief Clerk to the Chief Secretary [of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland].
106. President of the Royal Irish Academy.
107. President of the Royal Hibernian Academy.
108. Governor of the Bank [of Ireland].
109. The Aide-de-Camp to the General commanding the Forces [in Ireland].
110. Esquires.
111. Gentlemen.

Persons filling any of the above offices [and] having higher personal rank, will have that precedence [which is attached to the latter].

In the year 1849, on the occasion of the Queen's visit to Ireland, an order was issued by the Lord Chamberlain, dated the 7th August in that year, and published in the Gazette, by which place was assigned to the Roman Catholic Primate, and to the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Dublin, next after and below the Archbishops of the then Established Church.

By the enactments of the Irish Church Act, section 13, it is provided that every Irish Archbishop, &c., then living should, during his life, enjoy the same title and precedence as previously.

PRECEDENCE IN THE EAST INDIES.

The royal warrant by which precedence is now regulated in British India, bears date the 6th day of May, 1871, and was issued to supersede all other tables of precedence previously prescribed.

The comparative rank of officers of the Navy and Army is the same in India as it had always been in the European dominions of Her Majesty (for the detail of which the reader is referred to the table on that subject); therefore, all officers not mentioned in the subjoined table, whose rank is regulated by comparison with rank in the Army, enjoy the same rank with reference to civil servants as is enjoyed by military officers of equal grades. All other persons, not mentioned in the following table, take rank according to general usage, the Governor-General in Council determining all disputes.

Precedence amongst women is regulated by the official, not the hereditary or personal rank of their husbands; with the exception of Peers' wives, and of ladies possessing precedence in England independently of their husbands, provided this be not below the daughters of Barons. Such ladies rank according to English rules inter se, and follow immediately after the wives of members of council at the presidencies in India.

1. The Governor-General and Viceroy.
2. The Governor of Madras.
3. The Governor of Bombay.
4. The President of the Council of the Governor-General of India.
5. The Lieutenant-Governors of the Presidencies in this order, viz.: Bengal, the North-west Provinces, and the Punjab.
6. The Commander-in-Chief in India, when also a member of the Council of the Governor-General.
7. Chief Justice of Bengal.
8. Bishop of Calcutta, Metropolitan of India.
9. Chief Justices of Madras, Bombay, and North-western Provinces.
10. The Commanders-in-Chief at Madras and Bombay, when also members of Council.
11. Ordinary Members of the Council of the Governor-General.
12. Bishops of Madras and Bombay.
13. Ordinary Members of Council at Madras and Bombay.
14. The Commander-in-Chief in India, when not a member of Council.
15. The Puisne Judges of the High Court of Judicature, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and North-western Provinces.
16. The Commanders-in-Chief at Madras and Bombay, when not members of the Council of the Governor-General.
17. Chief Commissioner and Resident at Hyderabad.
18. Military Officers above the rank of Major-General.
19. Additional Members of the Council of the Governor-General appointed for the purpose of making laws, &c.
20. The Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's Naval Forces.
21. Judge Advocate-General of India.
22. Secretaries to the Government of India.
23. Members of Council at Madras, appointed, &c., as above in No. 19.
24. Members of Council at Bombay, appointed, &c., as above in No. 19.
25. Members of the legislative council of the Lieut.-Governor of Bengal.
26. Agents to the Governor-General in Rajpootana and Central India.
27. Commissioner in Scinde.
28. Judges of the Chief Court, Punjab.
29. Chief Secretaries to the Governments of Madras and Bombay.
30. Civilians of the 1st class, i. e. of 28 years' standing, and

    Major-Generals,

    Ranking jointly amongst each other according to seniority, which is computed amongst the civilians from the date of their entering the class to which they belong, and amongst the military officers from the dates of their commissions.
31. Advocate-General, Calcutta.
32. Residents at Foreign Courts, and Residents at Aden, the Persian Gulf, and Bagdad.
33. Recorders of Moulmein and Rangoon.
34. Advocates-General, Madras and Bombay.
35. Members of the Boards of Revenue, Bengal, Madras, and North-west Provinces.
36. Secretaries to Local Governments.
37. Chief Engineer, 1st class.
38. Controller-General of Accounts in India.
39. Directors-General, Post-office, Telegraphs, and Irrigation.
40. Judicial Commissioners, Oude, Central Provinces, Mysore, and Scinde.
41. Financial Commissioners in the Punjab, Oude, and Central Provinces.
42. Archdeacon of Calcutta.
43. Secretary to Council of Governor-General for making laws, &c., as at No. 19.
44. Officers commanding brigades.
45. Civilians of the 2nd class, i. e. of 20 years' standing from the date of rank assigned them on their arrival, and

    Colonels,

Ranking jointly amongst each other according to the rule prescribed in No. 30.

46. Commissioners of Divisions.
47. Directors of Public Instruction under Governments.
48. Private Secretary to Viceroy.
49. Military Secretary to Viceroy.
50. The Archdeacon of Madras.
51. The Archdeacon of Bombay.
52. Surveyor-General of India.
53. Superintendent of Great Trigonometrical Survey.
54. Sanitary Commissioner.
55. Superintendent of Geological Survey.
56 Inspector-General of Forests in India.
57. Inspectors-General of Police and Registrars-General under Local Governments.
58. Standing Counsel to the Government of India.
59. Remembrancers and legal advisers for the Punjab and North-west Provinces.
60. Commissioners of Revenue Survey.
61. Chief Engineers, 2nd and 3rd class, and Superintendents of Irrigation.
62. Civilians of the 3rd class, i. e. of 12 years' standing from the date of rank assigned them on their arrival, and

Lieutenant-Colonels,

Ranking jointly amongst each other according to the rule prescribed in No. 30.

63. Political Agents.
64. Under Secretaries to Government of India.
65. Inspector-General of Education, Central Provinces, and Directors General of Education, Oude, British Burmah, Berar, and Mysore.
66. Officers 1st Grade, Education department.
67. Officers 1st Grade, Financial department.
68. Private Secretaries to Governors.
69. Military Secretaries to Governors.
70. First Judges of Presidency Courts of Small Causes.
71. Chief Magistrates of Presidency towns.
72. Administrator-General, Calcutta.
73. Administrators-General, Madras and Bombay.
74. Inspectors-General of Jails, Sanitary Commissioners, and Conservators of Forests under Local Governments.
75. Superintending Engineers, 1st class.
76. Deputy-Directors of Post-office and Telegraphs, and Directors of Traffic and Construction.
77. Postmasters-General.
78. Senior Chaplains.
79. Officers 1st Grade, Geological Survey.
80. Officers 2nd Grade, Education department.
81. Officers 2nd Grade, Financial department.
82. Superintendent 1st Grade, Telegraph department.
83. Civilians of the 4th class, i. e. of 8 years' standing from the date of rank assigned them on their arrival, and

Majors,

Ranking jointly amongst each other according to the rule prescribed in No. 30.

84. Assistant Political Agents.
85. Officers 2nd Grade, Geological Survey.
86. Officers 3rd Grade, Education department.
87. Officers 3rd Grade, Financial department.
88. Superintendent 2nd Grade, Telegraph department.
89. Government Solicitors.
90. Civilians of the 5th class, i. e. of 4 years' standing from the date of rank assigned them on their arrival, and

Captains,

Ranking jointly amongst each other according to the rule prescribed in No. 30.

91. Junior Chaplains.
92. Officers 4th Grade, Education department.
93. Civilians of the 6th class, i. e. under

4 years' standing from the date of rank assigned them on their arrival, and

Subalterns,

Ranking jointly amongst each other according to the rule prescribed in No. 30.

Commissioners of divisions within their own divisions, and Residents and Political agents, have precedence immediately before civilians of the 1st class.

Collectors and Magistrates of districts, and Deputy-Commissioners of districts, and the Chief Officers of each Presidency municipality, have precedence within their respective charges before the 3rd class and Lieut.-Colonels in the army.

Among the results of this as well as previous warrants are two, peculiar to India. The wives of Bishops, &c., have equal rank with their husbands; and the wives of Baronets or Knights of Orders have no rank whatever, although they are persons of title, unless their husbands hold an office of some kind, and even then they must take rank according to that office.

PRECEDENCE IN CANADA.

In the year 1868 official precedence in Canada was defined to be according to the following order, and was communicated to the then Governor-General, Lord Monck, by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, as approved by the Queen, and to be observed within the Dominion, then newly constituted.

1. The Governor-General.
2. The Commander of the Troops within the Dominion, if a General, and the Commander of the Naval Forces on the North American Station, if an Admiral, their own relative rank to be determined by the Queen's regulations.
3. The Lieutenant-Governors of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick.
4. The Archbishops, according to seniority of appointment.
5. The Bishops, according to seniority.
6. The members of the Cabinet, according to seniority.
7. The Speaker of the Senate.
8. The Chief Judges of the Courts of Law and Equity, according to seniority.
9. Privy Councillors, who are not members of the Cabinet.
10. General Officers serving in the Dominion, and Admirals serving on the Station, not being in the chief command.
11. Other Officers commanding in the Dominion, or on the Station.
12. Members of the Senate.
13. The Speaker of the House of Commons.
14. Puisne Judges, according to seniority.
15. Members of the House of Commons.
16. Members of the Executive Council (Provincial) within the province.
17. Speaker of the Legislative Council within his province.
18. Members of the Legislative Council.
19. Speaker of Legislative Assembly.
. Members of Legislative Assembly within their province.

PRECEDENCE AMONGST LADIES.

The rank of married women is derived from and corresponds to that of their husbands; but this rule admits of many exceptions, of which the following may be enumerated:—

A woman noble by birth does not lose her rank if she marries a commoner; but it is otherwise should she marry a peer, for then her precedence is regulated by that of her husband. Although daughters of dukes and marquises take place above the wives of barons, yet the daughter of the premier duke of England would sink to the rank of a baroness if she married a baron: if, however, she married a lord by courtesy, or any other commoner, or a bishop, her rank, precedence, and title would remain unchanged. The widow of a peer, baronet, or knight, may retain her title notwithstanding a second marriage; but in the case of the first and last mentioned, she does so only by courtesy; and strictly speaking, loses her precedence: it is, therefore, only those noble by birth who come within the limits of these observations. Nevertheless the widow of a peer marrying another peer as a 2nd husband (say a duchess dowager marrying a baron) retains the title and precedence springing from the first husband, and is still a duchess, marchioness, &c., as the case may be; for in this respect all the nobility are pares, and therefore such a second marriage is no degradation. (Blackstone, I. 401; Coke, 2 Inst. 50.)

The widow of a baronet by a provision in a baronet's patent, however, enjoys her precedence for life, and by the same authority the widows of the eldest and younger sons of baronets retain for their own lives the precedence they gained by marriage.

That the official precedence of the husband is not communicable to the wife, forms the next exception; yet this, though all but universal, has its own limitations; for in India the reverse is almost wholly the rule of ladies' precedence; and even in this country, the wife of a lord mayor, or of the lord-lieutenant of Ireland, has a precedence derived from her husband's office.

The next exception is that of a married woman, who happens to be a peeress in her own right. She may through her husband hold a higher rank than that which belongs to her birth; but she does not lose her hereditary rank by one or more marriages, or by widowhood.

It is a general rule, that before marriage women have no titles or precedence otherwise than through their fathers; but, as stated above, their paternal distinctions cease if they marry peers, unless they should actually inherit a peerage. Several ranks intervene between the eldest and the other sons of the same father, but with the daughters it is otherwise; they, in point of precedence, are as one unbroken series, ranking amongst each other according to seniority, the eldest coming next to the wife of the eldest son (during the life of his father); and all of them several degrees above any of the wives of their younger brethren, provided those wives enjoy no distinctions by birth.

It is another general rule, that precedence acquired by marriage is never lost by the forfeiture of the husband. Thus, an earl may be attainted, but his wife remains a countess.

It is also a rule, that the rank enjoyed by a woman in her own right is incommunicable to her husband.

The foregoing statements are given as introductory to the subjoined table, without which, a complete view of the rules affecting female precedence could not have been presented. The authorities on which this table has been arranged are not repeated here, having been already set forth in the general table of male precedence.

1. The Queen.
2. The Princess of Wales.
3. The Princess Royal.
4. The other daughters of the sovereign according to priority of birth.
5. Wives of the sovereign's sons according to the seniority of their husbands.
6. Wives of the sovereign's grandsons according to the seniority of their husbands.
7. Granddaughters of the sovereign according to the seniority of their parents.
8. Wives of the sovereign's brothers.
9. Nieces of the sovereign.
10. Wives of the sovereign's nephews.
11. Wives of the sovereign's uncles.
12. Duchesses of England.
13. Duchesses of Scotland.
14. Duchesses of Great Britain.
15. Duchesses of Ireland.
16. Duchesses of the United Kingdom.
17. Wives of the eldest sons of Dukes of the Blood Royal.
18. Marchionesses subject to the same classifications as those already enumerated for Duchesses.
19. Wives of the eldest sons of Dukes.
20. Daughters of Dukes while unmarried, or when married to commoners; of course taking rank amongst each other under the rules which regulate their father's precedence.

21. Countesses of England.
22. Countesses of Scotland.
23. Countesses of Great Britain.
24. Countesses of Ireland (before the Union).
25. Countesses of the United Kingdom, including those Countesses of Ireland whose titles were created subsequent to the Union.
26. Wives of the younger sons of Dukes of the Blood Royal.
27. Wives of the eldest sons of Marquises.
28. Daughters of Marquises, taking precedence amongst each other in conformity with the rule which applies to the daughters of Dukes.
29. Wives of the younger sons of Dukes.
30. Viscountesses, subdivided in the same manner as Countesses.
31. Wives of the eldest sons of Earls.
32. Daughters of Earls.
33. Wives of the younger sons of Marquises.
34. Baronesses, subdivided in the same manner as Countesses.
35. Wives of the eldest sons of Viscounts.
36. Daughters of Viscounts.
37. Wives of the younger sons of Earls.
38. Wives of the eldest sons of Barons.
39. Daughters of Barons.
40. Maids of Honour (these, during their tenure of office, bear the title of "Honourable.")
41. Wives of Knights of the Garter.
42. Wives of Knights of the Thistle.
43. Wives of Knights of St. Patrick.
44. Wives of Bannerets made by the King in person.
45. Wives of the younger sons of Viscounts.
46. Wives of the younger sons of Barons.
47. Wives of Baronets.
48. Wives of Bannerets not made by the King in person.
49. Wives of Knights Grand Cross of the Bath.
50. Wives of Knights Grand Commander of the Star of India.
51. Wives of Knights Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George.
52. Wives of Knights Commander of the Bath.
53. Wives of Knights Commander of the Star of India.
54. Wives of Knights Commander of St. Michael and St. George.
55. Wives of Knights Bachelor.
56. Wives of Companions of the Bath.
57. Wives of Companions of the Star of India.
58. Wives of Companions of St. Michael and St. George. In this and the two preceding cases this position is generally accorded to these ladies though they are not mentioned in the statutes of the orders.

PRECEDENCE OF FOREIGNERS IN ENGLAND.

No foreigners whatever are entitled to precedence in this country, except they be members of the diplomatic body; but all foreigners enjoy by courtesy some share of distinction in mixed society. Mere hospitality to strangers is the foundation of this; but no rule or principle can be established on any titular analogies between foreign and English dignities: the cadets of families abroad often bear the titles of Prince, Duke, Count, or Baron, and occasionally receive in British society, on the strength of a mere nominal honour and its analogies, a place to which they are in no respect entitled. A foreign count is often really of lower position than an English country gentleman, and his wife is no countess in the English sense of that word. Each case requires to be investigated; and when the foreigner is found to be the head of a family in possession of its titular honours, the custom is to yield him the precedence enjoyed by envoys, viz. after dukes. It has long been the practice to yield to ambassadors and their wives the most distinguished place in society, and even the uncles or aunts of a sovereign, who are not themselves children of a king, have been required to yield the place to this high diplomatic character. Ambassadors are allowed at the Palace to precede all the peerage, and envoys to precede marquises. But the extreme limit of hospitable courtesy is exceeded when ordinary titled foreigners, being heads of families, are allowed a higher place than envoys, and the cadets of foreign families possessed of titles have no claim to precede any British peer.

British subjects in possession of foreign titles by purchase of land or otherwise, have no right to precedence here on the strength of their foreign dignities; and with respect to all genuine foreigners, it is essential that their position in the land of their birth should be investigated before they are honoured with the place or precedence attached by law to British subjects. The analogies derived from that position, and not the nominal resemblances between their titles and ours, are the foundation of such rank as is yielded to distinguished foreigners at the court of the Queen.

ALL THE INFERIOR TITLES

OF

WHETHER BORNE BY ELDEST SONS OR NOT.

BEFORE this Index was added to the other contents of the volume for 1851, it was impossible, in any work relating to the Peerage, to ascertain why and how some hundreds of well-known titles had disappeared. A few readers might imagine that they were extinct; others might conjecture that they had merged in higher honours. But by what superior titles they had been eclipsed, or where they were now to be found, no book could tell. Readers would ask themselves "what has become of the Earl of Beverley?" No such name is to be found in the latest Peerage books. "Where is the Earl of Burlington, where the Earl of Mornington, Lord Seymour, Lord Panmure, Lord Glenlyon, Lord Barham, Lord King, Lord Oriel, Lord Ferrard, Lord Lovaine, and other well-remembered persons?" Sometimes the courtesy titles borne by eldest sons might be expected to assist the reader in these difficulties. But they would help him in none of the instances above-mentioned, nor in a multitude of analogous cases, for peers of high degree often enjoy sixteen or seventeen inferior titles, while only one becomes known through the medium of an eldest son:—thus, the Duke of Athole has 17; the Dukes of Argyll and Hamilton have each 16; the Marquis of Bute has 15; the Duke of Buccleuch 15; the Duke of Northumberland 13; the Marquises of Abercorn, Huntly, Lansdowne, and Lothian, each 11; the Duke of Montrose and the Earl of Wemyss, each 10; the Dukes of Beaufort and Buckingham, each 9; while smaller numbers occur in profusion throughout the Peerage. Nor can it be forgotten, that in the case of all Viscounts and Barons, the inferior or additional honours vested in them are never borne as courtesy titles by their issue. And even amongst the second titles actually used by eldest sons no certainty exists; thus the heir apparent of the Lansdowne family in alternate generations is styled Earl of Kerry; and then the well-known title of Shelburne disappears from view: the eldest son of the late Marquis of Lothian was called Lord Jedburgh instead of Earl of Ancrum, the heir to the De La Warr title is now called Lord West, not Viscount Cantalupe: and there are upwards of 20 Peers whose heirs apparent or grandsons use titles which have no existence whatever amongst the family honours, or are only derived from these by indirect course or some modification of the real title, such as occurs in the cases of Lord Mahon, Lord Inverurie, Lord Trafalgar, Lord Castle-Wellan, Lord Courtenay, Lord Hastings, Lord Corry, Lord Cecil, Lord Bingham, Lord Bertie, Lord Forbes, Lord North, Lord Talbot, Lord Crichton, &c. Furthermore, many peers happen to have no male issue to enjoy these courtesy distinctions; there is no Lord Howick, no Lord Duncannon, no Lord Clive, &c. At present about 90 Peers are in this state without sons, a number which is fully one-third of the whole body possessed of the privilege; for it does not extend below the rank of Earl.

In these and a multiplicity of other cases, therefore, the reader was left in total ignorance respecting the fate of some of the most famous names in history. They were to be found neither amongst extinct nor existing titles.

In the creation of new Peers, also, it was frequently important to ascertain with facility whether or not the title selected was already in the possession of another as a subordinate designation; but such a search was scarcely possible to any but professional genealogists, and, even to them, only after great trouble and a lengthened investigation. Thus, in all probability, it was not extensively known in 1838, when Lord Methuen was raised to the Peerage, that there was already a Baron Methuen in the person of the Duke of Richmond; nor were the public very generally aware in 1839, when Lord Monteagle received his title, that there was already a Barony of Monteagle in the possession of the Marquis of Sligo.

The curious reader may observe in casting his eye over this list, that the following are the only English Counties at present unappropriated as titles:—

Dorset,	Sussex,
Middlesex,	and
Monmouth,	York.

The following important places are also unappropriated:—

Liverpool,	Southwark,
Birmingham,	Norwich,
Brighton,	Plymouth,
Cheltenham,	Wolverhampton,
Greenwich,	The Isle of Thanet, and
Lambeth,	The Isle of Wight.
London,

The following Scotch Counties are in the same state :—

Ayr,	Kinross,
Banff,	Kirkcudbright,
Clackmannan,	Linlithgow,
Dumbarton,	Stirling, and
Forfar,	Wigton;

Two Welsh Counties are vacant—Flint and Merioneth; and, finally, the Irish Counties of

Fermanagh,	Queen's County,
King's County,	and
Monaghan,	Wexford,

are likewise unoccupied as titular designations.

To this enumeration it may be added, that there are many instances of the same title being held by different persons at once; thus there are

3 Lords Boyle,	3 Lords Hay,
3 Lords Bruce,	4 Lords Herbert,
4 Lords Douglas,	3 Lords Hill,
4 Lords Grey,	5 Lords Howard,
5 Lords Hamilton,	5 Lords Stewart or Stuart,
3 Lords Hastings, together with duplicates in abundance and many resemblances, such as

An Earl of Bandon and a Baron of Bandon Bridge,
A Delamar and a Delamere,
A Baron Jedburgh and a Baron of Jedburgh-Forest,
A Bowmont and a Beaumont,
A Marquis of Dumfriesshire and an Earl of Dumfries,
A Duke of Devonshire and an Earl of Devon,
A Ferrers and a Ferrard,
A Gilford and a Guilford,
An Inverurie and an Inverary,
A Melgum and a Melgund, &c.
A Ragley and a Raglan.

These instances prove the importance of literal accuracy in the use of titles, but the following list, showing the preservation of ancient orthography among modern Peerages, will save the reader from some mistakes to which persons in general seem very liable. Amongst Noble families the proper spelling is,

Argyll, not Argyle.
Athole, not Atholl,
Ailesbury, not Aylesbury,
Anglesey, not Anglesea,
Caulfeild, not Caulfield,
Clonmell, not Clonmel,

Feilding, not Fielding,
Donegall, not Donegal,
Guilford, not Guildford.
Ingestre, not Ingestrie,
Kingsale, not Kinsale,
Lyttelton, not Littleton,
Midleton (Visct.), not Middleton (Baron)
Milltown (Earl), not Milton (Visct.),
Fitz-William, not Fitzwilliam,
Mount Cashell, not Mountcashel,
Nevill (Abergavenny), not Neville,
Neville (Braybrooke), not Nevill,
Montagu, not Montague,
Rosebery, not Roseberry,
Westmorland, not Westmoreland,
Winchilsea, not Winchelsea, &c.

To meet the defect in works of reference which has been thus briefly described this Index of 718 titles was produced with considerable labour, and under one heavy discouragement; viz. that notwithstanding its perfect originality, it will probably meet the fate which has fallen already upon almost every other novel portion of this book—being pirated without scruple by all Almanacs, Kalendars, and similar publications.

In addition to the special uses which have been pointed out in this introduction, the Index will also be found to answer, by a single search, all the questions for which the reader was previously in the habit of consulting a variety of lists—as of second titles,—of Peers sitting in the House of Lords by one title and commonly addressed by another, &c. Every existing inferior title, whether borne by an eldest son or not, provided it differ in name from the superior title, will be here found in its alphabetical position, with a reference to the head under which further particulars may be discovered in Part I. of this volume.

BREADALBANE, 7th EARL of (Scot.). Creat. 1677. Earl of Holland, Visct. of Tay and Paintland, Lord Glenorchy, Benederaloch, Ormelie and Weik, 1677; Bart., 1625 (Scot.).—GAVIN CAMPBELL, only son of the 6th earl, by Mary Theresa, dau. of J. Edwards, Esq., of Dublin. Born at Fermoy, Ireland, 1851; mar. 1872, Lady Alma Imogene Leonora Carlotta, youngest dau. of the 4th Duke of Montrose (she was born 1854). The 1st peer was Sir John Campbell, who being chief creditor of the 6th Earl of Caithness, obtained from that nobleman his whole estate and earldom, and on his death was created by patent Earl of Caithness, but shortly afterwards the earldom was decided by parliament to belong to George Sinclair, of Kief, when Sir John Campbell obtained a new patent creating him Earl of Breadalbane and Holland, &c., with remainder to whichever of his sons by his 1st wife he chose to appoint in writing; his second son succeeded him under this patent, and that line becoming extinct, the title was, on the death of the 5th earl in 1852, claimed by the representative of the elder son's line. The question remained undecided until 1866, when the court of session confirmed the father of the present holder as 6th earl, on the ground that as the patent admitted heirs male general, the title would legally revert to him as representative of the 1st earl's uncle; in 1867 a further decision was made in his favour by the House of Lords. The present peer established his right before the House of Lords in 1872, to succeed his father as legitimate heir under the Scotch marriage law. The 4th earl obtained a marquisate and other titles, which became extinct in 1862.

PART II.

SONS, DAUGHTERS, &c., OF PEERS

1873.

Every person in the habit of consulting "Peerages" is aware, that previous to the publication of this work, the Children of Peers were always described under the heads of their respective families. Formerly, if the reader sought any information respecting this branch of the titled classes, it was essential that he should first ascertain to what particular noble house, out of the whole 533, the subject of his inquiry belonged; and this itself often happened to be the very fact he was seeking. In the attempt to attain this preliminary knowledge he was condemned to the necessity of examining half a dozen lists, and finally referred to perhaps as many titles, under some one or other of which the required particulars were supposed to be included. Still he enjoyed no certainty of finding the object of his search, for the same surname frequently belongs to eight or ten distinct families at once; thus—

Nine Peers and their children bear the name of Stewart or Stuart.
Six Peers and their children bear the name of Campbell.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Butler.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Douglas.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Hamilton.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Scott.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Browne.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Hill.
Five Peers and their children bear the name of Howard.
Four Peers and their children bear the name of Montagu.
Four Peers and their children bear the name of Murray.
Four Peers and their children bear the name of Drummond.
Four Peers and their children bear the name of Curzon.
Four Peers and their children bear the name of Erskine.
Four Peers and their children bear the name of Gordon.

Four Peers and their children bear the name of PLUNKETT; besides triplets and duplicates in hundreds.

The practice of assuming surnames—so prevalent amongst persons who have wealth to bequeath or inherit—inflicted upon the unassisted reader another element of perplexity; for nearly two hundred members of noble houses have assumed surnames before, after, or in lieu of their paternal designations. While these facts are borne in mind, it can scarcely be asserted that, under the old system, any information respecting the junior branches of noble houses could be reached with facility.

This branch of the titled classes, though not so exalted in station, are sometimes more wealthy and have always been more numerous than the Peers themselves. The uncles, the aunts, the children and the grandchildren belonging to noble houses are nearly 4000 in number, while the Peers are only 533. They have a common bond of connexion in the fact that their titles are enjoyed BY COURTESY alone; and this striking characteristic seemed to the author of these pages to justify the change which he introduced for the first time into this work more than twenty years ago. To supersede the use of complicated indices—to spare the reader the perplexity of double, triple, and quadruple references—has been the leading idea in the production of this work; that object has been here attained, by removing the children of every Peer from beneath the paternal wing, and collecting the whole of them together in an alphabetical dictionary of their own. In this division of the work will therefore be found—

Every person bearing the prefix of HONOURABLE,

Every person bearing the prefix of LADY,

Every person bearing the prefix of LORD, before their respective Christian names; or, in other words,

1. Such SONS of every Peer,
2. Such married and unmarried DAUGHTERS of every Peer,
3. Such GRANDSONS of every Peer,
4. Such married and unmarried GRANDDAUGHTERS of every Peer,
5. Such BROTHERS of every Peer,
6. Such married and unmarried SISTERS of every Peer,
7. Such UNCLES of every Peer,
8. Such married and unmarried AUNTS of every Peer, as happen to be now alive, provided that they enjoy a titular prefix, whether Honourable, Lord, or Lady, whether springing from their parentage or derived from royal warrants of precedence.

The arrangement adopted is strictly alphabetical with reference first to surnames and then to Christian names; I. and J., U. and V., are respectively treated as distinct letters; every Mac, Mc, M', will be found as if spelt in full Mac; every St. is classified as Saint; every compound surname will be found by means of its last member, with the exception of the particle De (or Des), which is allowed to maintain its initial pre-eminence.

COURTESY TITLES AND SECOND MARRIAGES.

THE following Ladies were each possessed of a Courtesy Title in right of a first marriage, and enjoyed a corresponding precedence; but they have, strictly speaking, lost both by contracting a second alliance; for it is held that whatsoever, in this respect, a woman gains by marriage she loses by marriage—eodem modo quo quid constituitur, dissolvitur. Nevertheless, as the widows belonging to some other ranks are fully entitled to the honours and precedence springing from their first husbands—as moreover many of these ladies are in the habit of retaining some titular prefix—and as they are too few in number to originate, or be the subject of a usage—it is perhaps no very great concession for the world to yield them the courtesy titles of their first husbands. Their names are therefore here recorded for the information of readers who desire to recognize such a rank as if it belonged to these Ladies.

BALL, late HON. MRS. MICHAEL DE COURCY. — Catherine Savery, only child of William De Lisle, Esq.; mar. 1st, 1801, Capt. the Hon. Michael De Courcy, R.N. (father of the 28th Baron Kingsale), who died 1813; 2ndly, Lieut. Benjamin Symes Simms, R.N., who died 1828; 3rdly, W. W. Ball, Esq.

BERNARD, late HON. MRS. HENRY ROBERT HANDCOCK.—Ellen Georgina, eldest dau. of the late Lieut.-Col. Henry Williams, R.A.; mar. 1st, 1854, Lieut.-Col. the Hon. Henry Robert Handcock (son of the 2nd Baron Castlemaine), who was killed before Sebastopol 1855; 2ndly, 1859, Richard Wellesley Bernard, Esq.

BRADSHAW, late HON. MRS. FLEETWOOD JOHN PELLEW.—Emily Sarah, youngest dau. of the late Thomas Ferguson, Esq., of Greenville, co. Down; mar. 1st, 1860, Hon. Fleetwood John Pellew (son of the 2nd Visct. Exmouth), who died 1866; 2ndly, 1871, Octavius Bradshaw, Esq.

BROWNE, late HON. MRS. CECIL LAWLESS.—Frances Georgiana, dau. of the late Morris Townshend, Esq.; mar. 1st, John William Digby, Esq.; 2ndly, 1848, Hon. Cecil John Lawless (youngest son of the 2nd Baron Cloncurry), who died 1853; 3rdly, 1856, Andrew Browne, Esq., of Mount Hazel.

BRIEF VIEW

OF

TITULAR DISTINCTIONS

AND

TERMS RELATING TO RANKS.

In the following pages is a summary description, in alphabetical order, of the various ranks which confer titles upon individuals; together with a brief account of a few terms which frequently occur in the personal memoirs of each possessor of these dignities:—

Abeyance.—When the possessor of a barony which had been created by writ of summons, dies without issue male, his daughters become his "co-heirs," and the barony falls into "abeyance" amongst them. In this condition it will remain—unenjoyed by any of them, yet undestroyed—until death or the favour of the Crown "terminates the abeyance." By the death of all the daughters except one, and the extinction of any direct descendants of these daughters, the abeyance is terminated in favour of the survivor, and she becomes a Baroness in her own right. By the favour of the Crown, on the other hand, any co-heir may be selected, and the barony revived in his or her person. The co-heir selected being summoned by writ, and taking precedence as if sole heir.

Archbishops.—The highest dignity in the Church is that of "metropolitan prelate" or archbishop. He exercises control over Bishops; and the limits of his archiepiscopal jurisdiction is called "a province," of which there are two in England (Canterbury and York), and have been hitherto two in Ireland (Dublin and Armagh). But in addition to these functions, he has the actual care of a diocese, in which he performs all the duties of a suffragan prelate, owing obedience, however, only to the Crown and the Parliament. He can issue licences for marriages to be solemnized at any time or place; and he has the power of granting degrees like those of a University.

Attainder.—A capital conviction for treason or felony, when judgment has actually been pronounced, renders a man "attaint, attinctus." His dignities are not only destroyed in his own person, but their further descent arrested. The obstruction of an attaint may be removed by parliament reversing judgment; and the dignity is thereby revived in precisely the same condition as if it never had been attainted.

Baron.—This though now the lowest rank in the peerage is the most ancient. It may be derived from a writ of summons or from letters patent. The former, if followed by an actual sitting in the House of Lords, constitutes a title heritable by heirs male and female of the body of the person summoned. The latter always prescribes the course of descent in express words. Both these kinds of Baronies are in existence; but formerly another class drew their honours from the possession of certain lands. These "Baronies by tenure" are obsolete, though many heirs of such titles exist, possessing baronies by writ or patent.

Baroness.—The wife of a Baron, or the female possessor of a Barony in her own right by descent or by creation.

Baronets.—This order of titled persons was founded in England by James I., May 1611; in Ireland, by the same King, Sept. 1619; and in Scotland, by Charles I., May 1625. It owes its birth to the necessities of James, who sought to recruit his finances by the condition annexed to the title of paying into the exchequer about 1095*l.*, being ostensibly three years' pay of thirty soldiers at 8*d.* a day per man. The dignity in modern times has always been created by patent, in which the course of its descent is prescribed—usually to the heir male of the body of the first grantee. It is scarcely necessary to add that no payment of money will now purchase the title, though, of course, expenses attend the passage of a patent. Many patents, previous to 1827, contained a clause, under which the eldest son of a Baronet may claim Knighthood on coming of age.

Bishop.—Every Bishop must have been in priest's orders, must be at least thirty years of age, must be born in lawful wedlock, and must be recommended by the Crown to the dean and chapter by whom he is elected. Each new Bishop is "consecrated;" but when a prelate is removed from one see to another the process is called "translation." The majority of the Bishops have no seats in the House of Lords, being Prelates of Scotland, and of the Colonies. There are also 5 Missionary Bishops, together with two English bishops. The number actually possessed of legislative functions are twenty-three bishops and two archbishops.

Countess.—The wife of an Earl, or the female possessor of a peerage of that rank in her own right by descent or by creation.

Duchess.—The wife of a Duke, or the female possessor of a peerage of that rank by descent or by creation.

Duke.—This, the highest rank in the British peerage, dates its origin from the 11th of Edward III., in which year that King created his eldest son a Duke: previously the Kings of England had themselves been styled "Dukes" of Normandy, and were naturally restrained from conferring an equal titular designation upon any subject; but Edward III. claimed to be "King of France," and he was the first to create an English Duke. This order of nobility disappeared wholly in 1572 by the extinction of the heirs of all upon whom it had been conferred, or by the attainder of the remaining possessors of the title; the first peer subsequently raised to this rank was Ludovic Stuart, Duke of Richmond, 17th May, 1623. There are at present only two dukedoms in Ireland, those of Leinster and Abercorn.

Earl.—The title of Earl may be traced to the Saxon earldorman, or the Danish jarl; but its constitution as a dignity is, of course, subsequent in date to the Norman Conquest, when the designation Comes, Count, or Earl, took a prominent place in the peerage. Till the reign of Henry III. this dignity, together with that of Baron, wholly constituted the nobility of the realm; and previous to that period earldoms seem in several instances to have been enjoyed, like baronies, as a consequence of the tenure of certain lands. Originally the title was derived from the name of a county, the government of which was attached to the honour; but in modern times the dignity and the duty have long been divided, and towns, villages, and country seats occasionally furnish the name of an Earl.

Knight Bachelor.—This rank is far more ancient than any of the fraternities existing under the name of Orders. By the mere imposition of the Sovereign's sword on the shoulder, accompanied with the words "Arise, Sir ——," its privileges are conferred; and even the members of the Orders of Knighthood must all now receive this accolade before they can assume the designation of "Sir." When residence abroad prevents the personal reception of this honour, it has of late become the practice to issue letters patent granting the "style, title, and dignity of a knight" to the favoured individual. The prefix of "Sir" is exclusively English as appertaining to Knighthood, and is not neessarily borne by any Foreign knight. In Ireland the Lord-Lieutenant can confer the honour of Knighthood, and in 1860 the Prince of Wales created knights in Canada, under special commission from the Crown. The origin of the designation Knight Bachelor is plausibly derived by some authors from the words bas chevalier, indicating the superiority of the class of Knights Banneret who were created under the royal standard displayed in open war.

Knights of the Bath.—The practice of creating Knights with various ceremonies, of which bathing was one, is undoubtedly a custom of considerable antiquity; but the institution which now bears the name cannot be traced as a State Order, regulated by statutes and ordinances, beyond the year 1725. The close of the war led to a re-modelling of its constitution in 1815, and the long continuance of peace produced an analogous result in 1847. The new statutes published in the latter year introduced the means of extensively rewarding civil services, and, by abolishing a mass of absurd or conflicting ordinances, reduced the whole to a consistent and rational institution. It contains three classes, viz. Knights Grand Cross, Knights Commander, and Companions. The latter are not entitled to the prefix of "Sir," but the two former always receive the accolade. These three classes are each subdivided into three minor divisions, viz. Military, Civil, and Honorary. Services in the army or navy are rewarded by the first of these minor divisions; services in diplomacy, on the bench, in high official stations, &c., are acknowledged by the second; services rendered by foreign princes or officers are rewarded by the third.

Order of the Garter.—The year 1348 is that usually assigned as the date of the institution of this fraternity. Popular tradition attributes its foundation to the accident of a lady's garter being picked up by Edward III. at a court festival, when he checked the mirth of bystanders by the exclamation Honi soit qui mal y pense, and permanently converted a trivial accident into a source of honour and distinction by founding a fraternity of Knights with that motto and the decoration of an embroidered garter. It consists of the Sovereign, the Prince of Wales, twenty-five Knights Companions, and such lineal descendants of George II. as may be elected extra Knights.

Order of the Guelphs of Hanover.—This, though no longer a British fraternity, enjoyed that distinction for nearly a quarter of a century, and Englishmen have more largely participated in its honours than the natives of Hanover. It was founded by George IV. in 1815, and consists of three classes—Knights Grand Cross, Knights Commander, and Knights; the latter, however, in this country, have no other attribute of Knighthood than the name, and correspond exactly to the Cavalieri or Companions of other Orders; but in Hanover they enjoy several privileges.

Order of St. Michael and St. George.—This Order was established by letters patent in 1818 for the purpose of affording an appropriate medium by which marks of royal favour might be conferred upon the natives of Malta and the Ionian Islands, as well as upon British subjects whose services may be connected with these dependencies of the Crown. It consists of three classes—Knights Grand Cross, Knights Commander, and Cavalieri (or Companions). The cession of the Ionian Islands to Greece in 1863, reduced the number of persons eligible for this order; but in 1869 the Queen was pleased to sanction such a modification of the statutes of this order, and such an enlargement of its numbers as to render it available as a reward of distinguished merit or service in any of the colonial possessions of the Empire. The members of each grade have rank immediately after the analogous grade of the Order of the Bath.

Order of St. Patrick.—This fraternity of Knights was instituted in 1783 as a national Order for Ireland, corresponding to the Thistle in Scotland and the Garter in England. The Lord-Lieutenant, Lords deputy, or Lords justices were appointed ex officio Grand Masters, and the Order was intended to consist of fifteen Knights; but extra Knights were twice added, and the number was permanently increased to twenty-two Knights in 1833: in addition to which all persons who have held the office of Lord-Lieutenant are authorized to retain the ensigns of the Order after they have retired from the government of Ireland. Since the passing of the Irish Church Act, so much of the original royal statutes founding the order in 1783 has been repealed by an ordinance of the sovereign, as referred to the religious ceremony of installation. The first investiture under the new arrangement took place in 1871. There is however no curtailment of the rights and privileges hitherto enjoyed by the knights themselves.

Order of the Thistle.—Authorities are divided as to the period to which the origin of this Order may be traced; some going as far back as Achaius, King of the Scots, and others dating its establishment from a warrant issued by James VII. of Scotland and II. of England in 1687. The statutes issued in that year limited the number of Knights to twelve. The Order having been wholly neglected during the reign of William and Mary, letters patent were issued by Queen Anne in 1703 reviving and re-establishing it. In May 1827 the constituent number of Knights was permanently extended to sixteen, which form its present complement.

Lords of Session.—For a considerable period the Scottish judges have during their tenure of office been styled Lords. In Ireland the judges are frequently sworn in privy councillors, and in England they are usually knighted; but in Scotland the title of Lord is prefixed either to the name of their family seats or to their patronymic: of the former practice Lord Benholme and Lord Curriehill afford instances — of the latter Lord Neaves and Lord Mackenzie are examples. With the tenure of office this title ceases, and it does not give the prefix of Lady to be enjoyed by the judges' wives.

Lords Spiritual.—The Bishops collectively in their legislative capacities are called Lords Spiritual, as the other members of the House of Peers are called Lords Temporal.

Marchioness.—The wife of a Marquis, or the female possessor of a peerage of that degree by descent or by creation.

Marquis.—This title was unknown in England till Richard II. created a Marquis of Dublin. It is said to derive its origin from the word Marchio, Lord Marcher, whose duty it was to guard the Welsh and Scottish frontiers, which were called Marches. Till of late years it occurred very sparingly in the lists of Peers, and even at present it furnishes the smallest number of any rank in the nobility.

Prince of Wales.—This title has for more than five centuries been granted by the Sovereigns of England to their eldest sons. Unlike the Dukedom of Cornwall and certain other titular distinctions, it is conferred by patent, and not inherited.

Privy Councillor.—The Privy Council includes the responsible ministers of the Crown, the majority of the judges, some diplomatists, and many peers and commoners distinguished in the public service. In number it is unlimited. Under its authority many acts are done, but the measures which pass under its name chiefly proceed from its own sub-committees—the Cabinet, the Judicial Committee, the Board of Trade, &c. Privy Councillors enjoy the title of Right Honourable, and are ex officio entitled to become magistrates in every county without being required to possess the usual landed qualification. They also possess the privilege of the entrée at drawing rooms, levees, state balls, &c.

Viscount.—This is the most modern of all the ranks in the Peerage. It was introduced into England in 1440, and has always been conferred by letters patent. The word vice-comes had long been used to designate the sheriff of a county, and the French modification of that term, viscount, was adopted when a titular dignity was created, to which, however, no shadow of official trust was assigned. It has never been largely conferred, and as a chief title does not at present constitute one-twentieth of the English peerage; in Ireland, however, it bears a much larger proportion to the whole body, being about one-fifth.

VISCOUNTESS.—The wife of a Viscount, or the female possessor of a peerage of that degree by descent or by creation.

FORMAL MODES

OF ADDRESSING

LETTERS TO PERSONS OF TITLE.

Before the reader can ascertain the correct mode of addressing any person of title, it is first necessary that he should learn the precise rank of the individual, as well as the hereditary personal or official distinctions by which that rank is often modified. Information of this kind he will find under each person's name in Part I. and II. of this volume; and then, by referring to the following series of statements (in which the ranks, &c., are alphabetically arranged), he can apply the general rule to the individual instance, and find the correct mode of addressing letters to every member of the titled classes.

Archbishop.—Letters are addressed "His Grace the Lord Archbishop of ——," and commence with the words "My Lord Archbishop;" but more formal documents describe the Archbishop of Canterbury as "The Most Reverend Father in God, Charles Thomas, by Divine Providence Lord Archbishop of Canterbury." Other archbishops, like suffragan bishops, are styled "by Divine permission." In letters and conversation an archbishop is not addressed as "Your Lordship," but as "Your Grace." The Archbishop of Armagh is usually addressed in Ireland as "His Grace the Lord Primate of Ireland." One Irish bishop, viz., Meath, which was anciently an archiepiscopal see, continues to enjoy one of the honorary distinctions of an archbishop, and to be styled "Most Reverend."

Archbishops' Wives enjoy no title whatever in right of their husband's official rank.

Baron.—Letters are addressed "The Right Honourable Lord ——," and commence with the words "My Lord." When personally referred to, he is styled "Your Lordship."

Baron's Daughter.—Letters are addressed "The Honourable Mary ——," or if married, "The Honourable Mrs. ——," and commence with the word "Madam."

Baron's Son.—Letters are addressed "The Honourable James ——," or "The Honourable William ——," as the case may be, and commence with the word "Sir."

Baron's Son's Wife.—Letters are addressed "The Honourable Mrs. ——," and commence with the word "Madam."

Baron's Wife and Baroness in her own right.—Letters are, according to strict formality, addressed as "The Right Honourable Lady ——;" but in the majority of instances the form adopted is The "Lady ——." The commencement of the letter is "Madam," but when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship."

Baronets. — Letters are addressed "Sir John ———, Bart.," or "Sir William ———, Bart.," as the case may be; and commence with the word "Sir." Some years ago an attempt was made to revive the old style of addressing baronets, as "The Honourable Sir John ——, Bart.," but it met with general disfavour; the latter is the mode of address proper only for the sons of earls, viscounts, and barons, as well as judges, &c., when they happen also to be baronets.

Baronets' Wives.—Letters are addressed "Lady ———," without any Christian name (unless she be the daughter of an earl, marquis, or duke), and commence with the word "Madam;" but when personally referred to, a baronet's wife is styled "Your Ladyship."

Bishops. — Letters are usually addressed "The Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of ———," and commence with the words "My Lord;" but frequently the prefix of "Right Reverend" is omitted. In more formal documents the style is "The Right Reverend Father in God, William (or George, &c., as the case may be), by Divine permission Lord Bishop of ———." Bishops suffragan are addressed as "The Right Reverend the Bishop Suffragan of ———;" or more simply, "The Bishop Suffragan of———;" and letters should commence, "Right Reverend Sir." The Scottish bishops are not usually addressed by the title of their diocese, but by their own name, thus, "The Right Rev. Bishop Terrot;" and the commencement is not "My Lord," but "Right Reverend Sir." Within the last few years, however, some of these prelates have favoured the practice of using a territorial title; but there is as yet no sufficient warrant for the usage. British colonial bishops are addressed like those of the mother country.

Bishops' Wives enjoy no title whatever in right of their husband's professional rank.

Countess. — Letters are addressed "The Right Honourable the Countess ———," and commence with the word "Madam;" but when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship."

Duchess. — Letters are addressed "Her Grace the Duchess of ———," and commence with the word "Madam;" but when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Grace."

Duke.—Letters are addressed "His Grace the Duke of ———," and commence with the words "My Lord Duke;" when personally referred to, he is styled "Your Grace."

Duke's Daughter.—Letters are addressed "The Lady Mary ———," or "The Lady Margaret ———" (as the case may be). They commence with the word "Madam;" and when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship." If a duke's daughter marries a person of inferior rank, it only changes her surname.

Duke's eldest Son.—He uses the second title of his father by courtesy, and his letters are addressed precisely as if he enjoyed a marquisate or earldom, as the case may be (although in law he is, like all peers' sons, only an esquire). Vide Marquis, Earl, &c.

Duke's younger Son.—Letters are addressed usually as "The Lord William ———," or "The Lord John ———." They commence with the words "My Lord;" and when personally referred to, he is styled "Your Lordship."

Duke's younger Son's Wife.—Letters are addressed (unless when the wife is of superior rank to the husband) "The Lady William ———," and "The Lady John ———." They commence with the word "Madam," and when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship."

Earl.—Letters are addressed "The Right Honourable" the Earl of ———, or less formally "The Earl of ———." They commence with "My Lord;" and when personally referred to, he is styled "Your Lordship."

Earl's Daughter. — Like Duke's Daughter, which see.

EARL'S ELDEST SON.—Letters are addressed as if he enjoyed by right the title which he bears by courtesy.

EARL'S YOUNGER SON.—Though an Earl's daughters have the same prefix as those of a Duke, yet the sons of an Earl are only "Honourables." Letters are addressed like those to barons' sons, which see.

EARL'S YOUNGER SON'S WIFE.—Like baron's son's wife, unless when of superior rank to her husband.

EARL'S WIFE.—Vide Countess.

JUDGES.—Letters to the puisne judges of the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, are addressed "The Hon. Sir A. B.," or "The Hon. Mr. Justice ———." In the case of the Exchequer, the form would be "Mr. Baron ———." They commence with the word "Sir."

KING.—Letters are addressed to "The King's Most Excellent Majesty," and commence with the word "Sire;" when personally referred to, he is styled "Your Majesty." Another form of address frequently adopted, is a mixture of the first and third persons thus, "Mr. Pitt presents his duty to your Majesty."

KNIGHT BACHELOR.—Letters are addressed "Sir John ———," or "Sir William ———" (as the case may be), without the addition of "Knight." They commence with the word "Sir." More formal documents require the affix of "Knight."

KNIGHT BACHELOR'S WIFE.—Letters are addressed "Lady ———," and commence with the word "Madam;" but when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship."

KNIGHT OF THE GARTER.—K.G. is placed after the name, in addition to any other distinction which the individual may enjoy.

KNIGHT OF ST. PATRICK.—K.P. is used like K.G. for Knight of the Garter, which see.

KNIGHT OF THE THISTLE.—K.T. is used like K.G. for Knight of the Garter, which see.

KNIGHT OF THE BATH.—Like Knight Bachelor, but with the addition of the letters G.C.B. or K.C.B. after the surname, according to the individual case.

KNIGHT OF THE BATH'S WIFE.—Like Knight Bachelor's Wife, which see.

KNIGHT OF THE STAR OF INDIA.—Like Knight Bachelor, but with the addition of the letters G.C.S.I. or K.C.S.I. after the surname, according to the class possessed.

KNIGHT OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.—Like Knight Bachelor, but with the addition of G.C.M.G. or K.C.M.G. after the surname, according to the individual case.

LORD ADVOCATE.—Letters are addressed with the prefix of "Right Honourable," and commence with the word "Sir," not "My Lord."

LORD LIEUTENANT OF IRELAND.—Letters are addressed "His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant," and commence according to the hereditary rank of the individual, "My Lord Marquis," "My Lord," &c. Vide each rank. If however he happens to be a duke, he is not addressed as "His Excellency," but as "His Grace the Lord Lieutenant."

LORD MAYOR.—Letters are addressed "The Right Honourable the Lord Mayor," and commence with the words "My Lord." In England there are only two lord mayors, viz. those of London and York; in Ireland one, viz. Dublin. Vide Mayor.

LORD OF SESSION.—Letters are addressed "The Honourable Lord Curriehill," &c. (as the case may be), and commence with the words "My Lord."

MAIDS OF HONOUR.—Letters are addressed "The Honourable Miss ———," and commence with the word "Madam."

MARCHIONESS.—Letters are addressed "The Most Honourable the Marchioness of ———," and commence with the word "Madam;" when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship."

MARQUIS. — Letters are addressed "The Most Honourable the Marquis of ———," not "The Most Noble." They commence "My Lord Marquis." When personally addressed, he is styled "My Lord" simply; and when incidentally referred to, "Your Lordship."

MARQUIS' DAUGHTER.—Like Duke's daughter, which see.

MARQUIS' ELDEST SON.—Letters are addressed as if he enjoyed by right the title which he bears by courtesy.

MARQUIS' YOUNGER SON.—Like a Duke's younger son, which see.

MARQUIS' YOUNGER SON'S WIFE.—Like a Duke's younger son's wife, which see.

MAYORS.—Letters are addressed "The Right Worshipful the Mayor of ———," and commence with the word "Sir." This form is however seldom adopted, except in formal petitions, or official letters referring solely to corporate business. Letters are more usually addressed "The Mayor of ——" simply.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT. — The letters M.P. are added after the surname, in addition to any other distinction which the individual may enjoy.

MILITARY OFFICER.—The military rank is always prefixed to any other title which the individual may possess, thus, "Major-General Sir Henry ———, K.C.B.," "Colonel the Earl of Longford," &c.

NAVAL OFFICER.—The same rule prevails here as with military officers, which see.

PRINCE.—Letters are addressed "His Royal Highness Prince ———," or "His Royal Highness the Duke of ———," when a prince is also a duke. They commence with the word "Sir," and not "My Lord Duke;" when personally referred to, he is styled "Your Royal Highness."

PRINCESS. — Letters are addressed "Her Royal Highness the Princess ———," or "Her Royal Highness the Duchess of ———" (as the case may be). They commence with the word "Madam," and when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Royal Highness."

PRINCE'S WIFE.—Like a princess by birth, which see.

PRIVY COUNCILLOR.—Letters are addressed with the prefix of "Right Honourable," whatever may be the rank which the individual otherwise enjoys, as "The Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote, Bart.," "The Right Hon. Stephen Cave;" but in no other respect does the office confer any title.

PRIVY COUNCILLORS' WIVES.—These enjoy no title whatever in right of their husband's seat at the council board.

QUEEN.—Letters are addressed "The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty," and commence with the word "Madam;" when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Majesty." Another form of address frequently adopted, is a mixture of the first and third persons, thus, "Sir Robert Peel presents his duty to your Majesty."

VISCOUNT. — Letters are addressed "The Right Honourable Lord Viscount ———," or less formally "The Lord Viscount ———." They commence with the words "My Lord;" and when personally referred to, he is styled "Your Lordship."

VISCOUNTESS.—Letters are addressed "The Right Honourable the Viscountess ——," or less formally "The Viscountess ——." They commence with the word "Madam;" and when personally referred to, she is styled "Your Ladyship."

VISCOUNT'S DAUGHTER.—Like Baron's daughter, which see.

VISCOUNT'S SON.—Like Baron's son, which see.

VISCOUNT'S SON'S WIFE.—Like Baron's son's wife, which see.

LISTS

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD,

1873.

THE lists of the members of the various Orders of Knighthood used formerly to be arranged in such a manner, that the convenience of the compiler was more consulted than the interest of the reader. Some lists placed the Knights in the order of precedence, others chronologically, and others again adopted an alphabetical classification. In the two former arrangements, no name could be found unless its precedence or seniority were previously known; while in the latter it was not the practice to give the reader any information respecting the period at which the Order was in any instance conferred. But in the compilation of the following lists it has been thought worth while to expend considerable labour, in order to furnish the reader with complete information at the least expenditure of trouble on his part. The names in each Order and in each class are arranged according to a strict alphabetical classification, while opposite each name is given the year in which the particular individual received his Order of Knighthood. The professional designations of admiral, general, colonel, captain, &c., have all been avoided, because the changes consequent upon promotions would speedily render this mode of describing individuals incorrect; the Christian names have therefore been adopted as the preferable mode of distinction. The value of these improvements is sufficiently proved by the fact, that since the year 1842 these lists have been extensively pirated. Almanacks, Kalendars, and other books of more pretension, have appropriated the whole series without the slightest acknowledgment of the source from which they were taken, and without even the ingenuity to correct those errors of the press which betray the indiscriminate character of that dishonest appropriation.

LIFE DEPARTMENT

The Accumulated Premiums are over £1,550,000. The Annual Income exceeds £160,000.

The sum of £5,458,829 has been paid in claims under Life Policies.

Large Bonuses have been declared and paid as additions to the amounts assured.

Premiums on Policies have been greatly reduced where parties have so applied the Bonuses on their Policies

Persons assuring in Great Britain have the option of Participating Rates of Premium, or of Non-Participating Rates.

Combined provision may be made for old age and early death, so that a person may secure a sum to be paid to himself at an age agreed upon, or to his Executors if he should die before that age.

Residence in Countries beyond the limits of Europe is allowed on favourable terms; in most temperate climates without extra Premium, beyond a moderate charge for the voyage only.

Whole World Assurances are granted.

Notices of the Assignment of Life Policies are received and acknowledged.

Advances are made on Policies to the extent of their value.

Persons desiring to surrender their Assurances may receive their value in money, or, in lieu thereof, may obtain a new Policy without further payment of Premium.

The Directors are ready to receive proposals for Assurances on any contingency involving payment of a sum at death.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

This Company undertakes the Assurance of almost every species of Property in the United Kingdom, at Rates of Premium and upon principles which will be found quite as advantageous to the interests of the Assured as those offered by any other Office. The Directors can confidently refer to the well-known character of the Company for liberality and promptitude in the discharge of claims made upon it during the many years it has been established.

No charge made for Policy Stamps. Renewals should be paid within fifteen days after the respective Quarter-days when they become due. Losses occasioned by Lightning will be paid. The Policies of the Company extend to cover Losses occasioned by the Explosion of Gas. The Company is ready to receive applications for Agencies in those Towns and Districts in which it is not at present represented. Application to be made to the Secretary.

N.B.—ABOLITION OF THE GOVERNMENT DUTY. From and after Midsummer, 1869, all Fire Assurances are exempt from the payment of Government Duty.

Tables of Rates, forms of proposal, and any information needful to effect Life or Fire Assurances, may be obtained on application to the Office, No. 92, Cheapside, London, or to any of the Company's Agents. RICHARD RAY, Secretary.

Attention is particularly requested to the following important facts resulting from the principles on which the Society was founded in the year 1762, and upon which it has ever since been conducted:—

1. It has never allowed Commission or employed Agents under any circumstances, whereby more than two millions sterling have been saved to the assured.

2. Being a Purely Mutual Office, the whole of the Capital and Profits belong exclusively to the Assured, no portion being diverted for dividends to Shareholders.

3. The invested capital is upwards of £4,000,000.

4. The whole expenses of management are on an average only about 2¼ per cent. on the annual income.

5. The Society accept the surrender of its policies at their true value, without any deduction, thereby rendering loss by forfeiture totally unnecessary.

6. THE LIVES OF PERSONS RESIDING AT A DISTANCE FROM LONDON ARE ASSURED WITHOUT REQUIRING THEIR PERSONAL ATTENDANCE AT THE OFFICE. ASSURANCES CAN THUS BE EFFECTED WITHOUT EXPENSE, OR THE INTERVENTION OF AGENTS BY DIRECT CORRESPONDENCE WITH THE OFFICE IN LONDON.

The objects of this Society are,

TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE to Governesses in distress, afforded privately and delicately through the Ladies' Committee.

ANNUITY FUND. Elective Annuities to Aged Governesses, secured on invested capital, and thus independent of the prosperity of the Institution.

 The Hon. Mrs. Ashley has most kindly opened a Fund to raise all the Society's Annuities to £25. Any Donations which may be kindly given, may be addressed "The Hon. Mrs. Ashley, to the care of the Secretary."

PROVIDENT FUND. Provident Annuities purchased by Ladies in any way connected with Education, upon Government security, agreeably to the Act of Parliament. This branch includes a Savings' Bank.

A HOME for Governesses during the intervals between their engagements.

A SYSTEM OF REGISTRATION, entirely free of expense.

AN ASYLUM for the Aged.

MEMBERSHIP consists in the payment of an Annual Guinea, or of Ten Guineas in one Sum. Subscribers are entitled to vote for Annuities in the proportion of one Vote for each Annual Half-Guinea, not in arrear, and for each Donation of Five Guineas. Subscriptions are due on the 1st of January, and can always be remitted by Post-office Order, or by a Cheque crossed "Sir S. Scott & Co."

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

Premiums moderate: terms and conditions liberal.

Participating Policy-holders receive every 5 years four-fifths of the Profits realized. Surrender Values given after the payment of only one Premium.

The LIFE FUNDS exceed £1,500,000, invested in first-class Securities.

The LIFE INCOME is nearly £200,000.

The claims paid (without litigation) have exceeded £5,000,000, exclusive of Bonuses.

The Expenses of Management average only 10 per Cent. on the Premium Income.

Advances are made on Policies which have acquired sufficient value.

Policies are issued for the benefit of the wife of the Assured, or of his wife and children, or any of them, under the "Married Women's Property Act," thus creating a secure family provision without the expense and trouble of Deeds.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Insurances against loss and damage by Fire are effected upon nearly every kind of Property at home and abroad.

The annual charge for Insurance on ordinary risks is at the rate of 1*s.* 6*d.* per cent.

No expense is incurred on effecting an Insurance, or in transferring Insurances from other Offices, beyond the payment of the Premium.

The Accounts published under the "Life Assurance Company's Act, 1870," and the Company's Prospectus, give the fullest information respecting the state of the Company's affairs, and the terms on which Fire and Life Assurances may be effected.

THE POSITIVE GOVERNMENT SECURITY LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED, was founded pursuant to Act of Parliament in January, 1870, for the introduction of an entirely new system of Life Assurance, the chief features of which are—

1. Providing Government Securities for Assurances.

2. A Negotiable Promissory Note for each Premium, payable "To Bearer," on the death of the Life Assured.

3. If you only pay one premium, and you never pay another, you are still assured, as long as you live, for the value of your first premium.

4. Whatever your occupation may be, whether Soldier, Sailor, Traveller, or anything else, you may travel and reside wherever you like, without fines, or extra premium or giving notice to any one, and your POSITIVE Life Assurance remains in force.

The Capital of the Positive is £500,000.—In Shares of £1 each, represented by Negociable "Share Warrants to Bearer," on being fully paid up, pursuant to Clause 27 of the Companies' Act of 1867.

The Business of this Company consists in the Purchase of, or Loans upon, Reversionary Interests, vested or contingent, in Landed or Funded Property, or Securities, also

Life Interests in Possession, as well as in Expectation; and Policies of Insurance upon Lives.

Loans upon Reversions may be obtained either at an Annual Interest, or in consideration of deferred charges, payable upon the Reversions falling in.

Immediate Annuities are likewise granted upon the latter principle to persons entitled to Reversionary Interests, who may thus obtain an income until their property falls into possession, without being called upon for any payment until that event.

Prospectuses and forms of Proposal may be obtained from the Secretary, to whom all communications should be addressed.

INFANT ORPHAN ASYLUM,

WANSTEAD.

Under the immediate Patronage of
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales,
Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales.

There are now more than Six Hundred Children in this Institution.

All are Fatherless: many have lost both parents. They are admitted at any age under 7 years.

2621 Children, Orphans of Clergymen, Officers in the Army or Navy, Medical Men, Solicitors, Tradesmen, and other respectable persons, from all parts of the British dominions, have been received since its establishment in 1827.

In the past year 65 Fatherless Infants were admitted.

The Asylum is dependent for Nine-tenths of its Income upon Voluntary Contributions.

60 Children are usually elected every year.

The expense of maintaining so large an establishment is necessarily very great. The Committee, therefore, earnestly appeal for additional Supporters.

Elections occur in May and November. Forms for nominating Candidates may be obtained of the Secretary.

Life Subscription, for One Vote, £5 5*s.*; for Two Votes, £10 10*s.*

DINNEFORD'S FLUID MAGNESIA.

For Thirty Years the Medical Profession have approved of this pure solution as the best remedy for

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, HEARTBURN, HEADACHE, GOUT, AND INDIGESTION;

and as a mild aperient for delicate constitutions, especially adapted for Ladies, Children, and Infants. When combined with the

ACIDULATED LEMON SYRUP,

it forms a most agreeable effervescing draught, in which its aperient and cooling qualities are much increased. In warm seasons and warm climates this simple preparation, when taken REGULARLY, has been found highly beneficial.

Churches, Offices, Greenhouses, and Buildings of every description warmed by means of a modification of the plan successfully used by Sir Goldsworthy Gurney in both Houses of Parliament.

The cost is about half, and the effect far greater than that of any other known means, and the whole apparatus can be placed out of sight.

Extracts from "Reports on Paris Universal Exhibition," Vol. IV., pages 83 to 87:—

"Testing Houses" show that "The Gurney Stove gave out rather more than nine-tenths of the heat due to a given quantity of coke; whereas some others gave scarcely half of that quantity. The next most powerful stove reaching about three-fourths of the heat given off by the Gurney Stove." 1300 Churches and 19 Cathedrals have been warmed in England alone.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
CHLORODYNE
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

The Public are CAUTIONED against the unfounded statements frequently made, "that the composition of CHLORODYNE is known to Chemists and the Medical Profession." The fact is, CHLORODYNE was Discovered and Invented by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE (ex-Army Medical Staff), and so named by him, and it has baffled all attempts at analysis by the first Chemists of the day. The method and secret of the preparation have never been published. It is obvious, therefore, that any thing sold under the name, save Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, is a spurious imitation.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly, the inventor of CHLORODYNE.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, December 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham,—who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine,—will be glad to have half-a-dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

 Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera had been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE.—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1*s.* 1½*d.*, 2*s.* 9*d.*, 4*s.* 6*d.*, and 11*s.* each. None is genuine without the words, "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

MR. HOWARD, Surgeon-Dentist, begs respectfully to inform his Patients, the Profession, and the Public, that consequent upon the expiration of his lease of the premises, No. 52, Fleet-street, he has REMOVED to No. 18, Giltspur-street, City (close to the Holborn Viaduct), where he continues to practise, upon the most improved principles, and charges as low as is consistent with the nature of the case submitted to his treatment. Mr. Howard takes this opportunity of acknowledging and tendering his sincere thanks for the patronage he has been honoured with for the last 40 years, and trusts to enjoy a continuance of the same at his new address, 18, Giltspur-street, Newgate-street. Consultations free. At home from Ten till Five.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The attractions of this Establishment have by no means been exaggerated, and an inspection of the rich, and, in many respects, unsurpassable contents cannot fail to interest and delight those ladies who may pay them a visit."—Court Journal, Nov. 16th.

"Amid all the handsome shops in that locality, his establishment may, without exaggeration, be said to have no rival. Any lady, therefore, desirous of knowing how to dress fashionably need only glance at this window to satisfy herself."—Court Circular, Nov. 23rd.

"The tradesmen of the West-end no longer confine their operations to the three or four months which constitute the season. The windows of Ahlborn, and other well-known firms in Regent Street, show now, in November, a brilliancy of colour and artistic beauty that would do credit to the brightest days of June."—Standard, Nov. 20th.

"During the last few days Regent Street has received an additional attraction in the handsome premises just opened by Mr. A. Ahlborn, who exhibits the most tasteful costumes that can be imagined."—Morning Post, Nov. 20th.

ROWLANDS' ODONTO,

OR PEARL DENTIFRICE,

Is of inestimable value in Preserving and Beautifying the Teeth, to which it imparts a PEARL-LIKE WHITENESS, Strengthening the Gums, and in giving a pleasing Fragrance to the Breath. Price 2*s.* 9*d.* per Box.

SCHWEPPE'S MALVERN SELTZER WATER.

In order to manufacture an Artificial Water, which shall be a successful imitation of the natural Spring, a perfect solution of the Chemical Ingredients is essential, and this can alone be effected by the aid of Pure Water. It was the knowledge of this important fact that induced J. SCHWEPPE & Co. to establish their new manufacture of where they have leased the Spring of the Holy Well, so renowned for its sweetness and purity. From the remarkable efficiency of this Water as a solvent of the CHLORIDES and CARBONATES which form the ingredients of the natural Spring at Nassau, J. SCHWEPPE & Co. are enabled to produce a SELTZER WATER possessing all those CHEMICAL and MEDICINAL properties which have rendered the original Spring so celebrated. It is prepared as an Aërated Water, and may be recommended to the public generally, as at all times a most refreshing and delightful beverage.

ARTIFICIAL SELTZER WATER AT MALVERN,

J. SCHWEPPE & Co. continue their usual manufacture of SODA, MAGNESIA, POTASS WATERS, AND LEMONADE.

at their respective Establishments at

LONDON, LIVERPOOL, BRISTOL, DERBY, AND GLASGOW.

Every Bottle is protected by a Label with names and Trade Mark.
